STRONG PICK-UP OF BUSINESS IN AUTUMN IS SEEN

Usual Seasonal Drop Failed To Appear In June

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—A business pick-up stronger than had been expected by the American Federation of Labor today in its monthly business survey.

At the same time, the federal reserve board noted that the volume of production, employment and trade fell to its May level throughout June, contrary to a usual seasonal decline.

"Buyers for retail stores are flocking to New York and Chicago in larger numbers than in any of the last six years," the A. F. of L. survey said.

"A better fall retail season than since 1929 is expected and orders to manufacturers should create many jobs and raise workers' buying power."

"Because sales of autos have held their high level longer than anticipated this year, automobile manufacturers will probably start their fall production of next year's models in September instead of November, putting men to work two months earlier."

"Electric power plants are already ordering equipment for central power stations, orders for railroad equipment are continuing at a higher level than expected, building contract awards showed an unusual increase in June."

"This means a busy fall season for steel and other heavy industries, and observers are now forecasting a sharp upturn of business in the fall when auto factories start production of new models."

"It is generally believed that the force of recovery has now gained enough strength to prevent any serious setback from political uncertainties next fall; but one other cloud on the horizon—the drought—may become serious."

"Crops have already been damaged in the drought sections (Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming) and unless we have rainfall within the next two weeks farmers' buying power will also be much reduced in the corn belt."

The survey repeated several former assertions that "re-employment is not keeping pace with recovery" and that "if recovery is to put the unemployed to work present hour schedules must not be lengthened."

Wages, the survey added, must keep pace with living costs which rose two per cent from April to June.

The reserve board's observations made in its monthly summary of general business and financial conditions noted that wholesale prices of commodities advanced in June, reflecting in part the effects of the drought.

Paul Wendel Goes Before Grand Jury With Kidnap Story

Charges He Was Held and Tortured Into Making Confession

Newark, N. J., July 24.—(AP)—Paul H. Wendel, former Trenton attorney, today before the federal grand jury told his bizarre story of abduction and torture by which he said he was forced to make a false confession to the Lindbergh kidnapping.

He was the first witness as the grand jury opened its investigation of the strange sequel to the Lindbergh-Hauptmann case.

The Newark News said Wendel was prepared to tell "a sensational story" of a conference involving disclosures by Bruno Richard Hauptmann which was held in a Brooklyn hotel.

Wendel also had with him the News said, a copy of an alleged letter which he claims was sent by Governor Hoffman to Ellis H. Parker on Feb. 28 while Wendel was being held at the New Lisbon Colony for Feeble Minded Males.

Governor Hoffman has said he was not aware of Wendel's detention, or confinement until the week-end of March 25 when Wendel was turned over to Mercer county authorities by Parker.

The Brooklyn hotel conference, the News quoted Wendel as saying, was a meeting of a number of men, several of whom were friendly to Hauptmann. During the conference, Wendel said, according to the News, disclosures were made which were never revealed before by Hauptmann regarding his guilt in the Lindbergh case.

CALLS JUDGE "DAFFY" BUT HAS LAST WORD

Seattle, July 24.—(AP)—Eddie Welch, 40, appeared in police court today for the third time since July 7 on a charge of being drunk.

"Ten days," decreed Judge William R. Bell.

"I think you're daffy," Welch objected.

"Thirty days," the judge retorted.

"You're daffy."

"Ninety days!"

"And a $300 fine," stormed Judge Bell.

Ninety days and $300 is the maximum penalty, so Eddie had the last word.

"I still think you're daffy," he muttered.

Warships Allowed To Fire On Rebel Planes By Ruling

International Zone Committee Issues Notice After Bombing

Casablanca, French Morocco, July 24.—(AP)—The international zone committee of the International zone was reported tonight to have authorized French, English and Italian warships to fire on rebel Spanish planes flying over the bay at Tangier.

The decision was said to have been made after fascist ships bombed a British oil tanker which was carrying fuel to Spanish government warships.

The Italian cruiser Ettore Savoy arrived at Tangier with 1,000 marines. Diplomatic circles said the international zone was equipped with sufficient troops and supplies to meet any eventuality.

James Convicted Of First Degree Murder By Jury

Death Sentence Mandatory for Barber Who Killed Wife

Los Angeles, July 24.—(AP)—Robert S. James was convicted of first degree murder tonight for the ruthless slaying of his wife, Mrs. Mary James, by a jury.

The jury did not recommend life imprisonment, so the death sentence is mandatory.

The superior court jury returned its verdict after deliberating slightly more than nine hours.

James was charged with drowning his wife in a bathtub last August 4 after subjecting her to torture by the slaying of a rattlesnake. He killed her to collect $20,000 life insurance, the prosecution charged.

The red-haired, green-eyed barber displayed no emotion at the verdict.

His pale face was immobile, as if he has been during most of his long trial.

Earlier after the jury had been in retirement several hours, he had smiled and said:

"I'm going to win."

Sentence will be pronounced Tuesday morning.

Charles Hope, an ex-sailor, accused James of trying to kill him after the death of the seventh Mrs. James. Hope's story came as he renewed his plea of guilty in the case.

Hope was adjudged guilty by Superior Judge Charles W. Parker who earlier had instructed the James jury that the green-eyed barber must be sentenced to the gallows, life imprisonment or freed.

"Now that the trial is concluded and the case has been given to the jury, I am satisfied that I am satisfied Robert James murdered his wife," the judge told Hope.

He withheld sentencing the ex-sailor because of the degree of his guilt—first degree murder—it must be either the gallows or life imprisonment.

Brooks Speaks At Bunker Hill Friday

GOP Nominee Stresses Fight For Freedom

Bunker Hill, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—C. Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, told residents of this historically named community today, our people stand again at Bunker Hill.

"Once more we fight in defense of our homes," he said. "The right to freedom, self government and opportunity is at stake. From now until Nov. 3 every American worthy of his ancestry must man the trenches and beat back the alien forces that would regiment our people, destroy self government and turn our citizens into subjects of a centralized state."

Brooks addressed a Republican picnic.

PROFILE OF GLASS TO APPEAR ON COINS

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Over his "most vigorous protest," the profile of Senator Carter Glass is to appear on a 50-cent piece commemorating the 150th anniversary of his home city, Lynchburg, Va.

As a last step, the doughy Virginia legislator told today to ask "If it were permissible for the profile of a live man to appear on coins."

Told there was no law against it, Glass shook his head and said:

"I had hoped there would be an avenue of escape."

His fellow-townsmen arranged for the commemorative coins.

CIRCUS ELOPEMENT

Los Angeles, July 24.—(AP)—The Tattooed Lady ran away with the circus "Wild Man."

Behind her, she left the show's "barker," Frank E. Hank, and Hank told about it today in obtaining an annulment. It was bad enough, he said, to be deserted only two months and 24 days after the wedding. But on top of that, he added, he turned his bride, "Nellie, the Tattooed Lady," had not obtained a final decree of divorce from a former husband.

REBEL ADVANCE ON CAPITAL OF SPAIN SMASHED

Invaders Driven Back With Heavy Losses

Madrid, July 24.—(AP)—A rebel advance on Madrid from the Northwest was smashed in a day-long battle in the Guadarrama mountains and the government claimed tonight the danger of attack on the capital had been definitely averted for the present.

The invaders, driven off with heavy losses by massed battalions of civil guards, assault guards and militia in the conflict on the rough mountain slopes, were reported tonight in full flight toward Segovia.

So confident was the government of a complete victory that it ordered the militia which had been patrolling the capital's streets in private cars to go back to work. Only official vehicles will be permitted on the streets, the government announced.

At the same time, however, it ordered conscripts who had been scheduled to join the colors in November to report August 1.

Official sources declared the city of Seville, southern rebel stronghold, had surrendered to loyalists. There was no immediate confirmation of the claim.

At Zaragoza, rebels were reported to have taken refuge in a church. Government forces were said to be steadily converging on the city in three directions—from Madrid, Barcelona and Valencia.

San Sebastian, Spain's summer capital in the north, was in the hands of loyal troops after a desperate struggle, the government asserted.

Rebels were holding out at Cordoba, the government said, but militia were pouring into the region in an attempt to rout them. Huesca, held by the rebels, was heavily bombarded by loyal airplanes, the government said.

Settlement Seen In Christian Co. WPA Controversy

Ban Picketing, Offer to Let Workers Make Up Lost Time

Taylorville, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—An ultimatum that picketing would be prohibited and an offer to allow workers to make up lost time tonight were regarded by WPA officials as tending to break the strike for increased wages by approximately 700 Christian county WPA employees.

L. C. Lawless, county WPA supervisor, said that indications were that a majority of the 40 projects would be in operation the first of next week after warning a group of workers at Pana that a continuance of the protest might result in the county's quota of jobs being cancelled.

An inducement to get the workers to go back to their jobs was seen in the announcement by T. R. Harris of Decatur, assistant district WPA director, that if the workers desired they could make up lost time by the walkout and receive full pay checks next Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Ed Marvel placed a definite ban against picketing, declaring that the WPA projects were to provide work for the jobless and those who desired to take advantage of the opportunity would be protected and no interference would be allowed.

Lawless said the five-day week plan was being adopted this week and that about 300 men worked today on projects in the northern part of the county.

At Pana, workers expressed the opinion that about 85 per cent of the men there desired to work and that the controversy had originated with a small group of agitators.

J. Stelle Pledges Democratic Unity

Asserts State Primary Fight Has Been Buried

Golconda, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Before one of the largest crowds in the history of the Pope County Fair, State Treasurer John Stelle yesterday paid tribute to Governor Horner and assured Southern Illinois Democrats there would be no split in the state party.

In sharp contrast to his bitter attacks against Governor Horner during the heated primary battle, Stelle said the primary fight had been "buried" and that the Cook county organization would back Horner to the limit in the coming fall campaign.

STILL CONFISCATED

Danville, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Rex Garland, of Bridgeport, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner A. R. Hall here today on charges of possessing a still and untaxed liquor.

Garland was unable to furnish $1,000 bail for his release.

He was seized by two federal agents yesterday after they confiscated 10 gallons of alcohol and a 75 gallon still.

U. S. Ambassador Reported Safe In Spain As Removal Of Americans Progresses

Landon to Open Eastern Campaign Late in August

Will Speak in New York and Pennsylvania, At His Birthplace

Topeka, Kas., July 24.—(AP)—New York and Pennsylvania, whose voters control nearly one-third of the electoral ballots needed to name the next president, were chosen by Gov. Alf Landon today for opening his eastern campaign against the New Deal.

After a talk with the Republican candidate which began over the luncheon table and extended into the afternoon, John D. M. Hamilton, national chairman, announced to newsmen Landon would travel to West Middlesex, Pa., and Chautauque and Buffalo, New York in late August.

"My judgment is that these points will be the extent of the first trip east," Hamilton said.

The date on which Landon will leave for the east, he added, will be between August 20 and August 25, the exact date to be announced Monday or Tuesday at Chicago headquarters.

West Middlesex is Landon's birthplace. During his youth he spent many summers at Chautauque, where he met his first wife.

In reply to questions, Hamilton said Landon probably will make a short return trip later. He said a speech in New York City before election day was a "fair guess."

New York voters control 46 ballots in the presidential electoral college and Pennsylvania's 36. This aggregate of 82 compares with the total electoral college vote of 531 and the 266 majority required to elect.

Uncle Held for Questioning in Clevenger Death

Professor Who Found Niece Murdered Arrested In Asheville

Asheville, N. C., July 24.—(AP)—Sheriff Laurence E. Brown announced early tonight Prof. W. L. Clevenger, of N. C. State College, had been "tained for investigation" in connection with the slaying of his niece, Helen Clevenger, here July 16.

Brown said the 34-year-old bachelor, a member of the faculty at State college, was taken into custody at 3 p. m. soon after he arrived here from attending his niece's funeral in Ohio.

"I had hoped to have a confession for you boys by 7 p. m.," the sheriff said, "but I am unable to give it to you. I may not have it for a week or ten days yet."

The sheriff declined to say if Clevenger was the man he had previously said he suspected of being the ravisher-murderer of the young niece and had promised to arrest by 7 o'clock tonight.

Clevenger's work as a dairy specialist at N. C. State college takes him upon frequent tours of the state and the 18-year-old New York university honor student was accompanying her uncle on one of these trips when she was slain ten days ago.

It was Clevenger who reported finding the body of his niece in her room at a fashionable resort hotel here at 8 a. m.—seven hours after the hour officers fixed the time she was slain by an intruder who first ravished her.

Young Republicans To Hear F. Turner

Will Be Keynote Speaker At Peoria Convention

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—Thomas J. Downs, president of the Young Republicans of Illinois, announced today Frederick W. Turner, Jr., of Chicago, would be the keynote speaker and temporary chairman of the organization's convention at Peoria, Ill., Sunday.

Evan Howell, of Springfield, past president of the state organization, will be the permanent chairman.

The following will serve as chairmen of the committees:

Noble G. Johnson, Paxton, resolutions; Ralph W. Benfield, Chicago, constitution; Ward C. West, Chicago, credentials; George B. Lee, Harrisburg, rules; and William John Grand, Chicago, permanent organization.

Downs said nearly 4,000 delegates and alternates were expected to attend the convention. He asserted each county downstate and each ward and township in Cook county was entitled to one delegate and one alternate for each 500 votes cast in the primary.

"On this basis," he said, "the maximum number of delegates and alternates that could be recognized would be 3,960."

FEDERAL MONEY EASES ILLINOIS RELIEF PROBLEM

IERC Turns Over Fund To The State As Loan

Chicago, July 23.—(AP)—A temporary solution of the problem presented by relief administration was reached today when $200,000 of federal funds—the balances remaining in several accounts—were made available by the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

Leo M. Lyons, secretary of the commission, told commission members that with the approval of Gov. Henry Horner and Howard O. Hunter, federal relief administrator in the mid-west area, the money would be advanced to the state of Illinois and other governmental units to pay salaries of necessary employees until such time as the legislature amends the state law and permits use of special tax funds for this purpose.

Lyons made it clear that the federal money had been reserved for payment of accounts not yet liquidated and was only a loan to be repaid as soon as the legislature may take the necessary action.

The commission approved the transaction without dissent. Of the total, about $125,000 will go to Cook county and the remainder downstate—as needed.

WPA officials informed the commission today that the latter's proposal to set up a WPA project to review the needs of WPA employees with the view of removing those no longer in need of such employment could not be authorized.

Members of the commission, however, felt that such a review and its attendant costs went beyond the intent of the state legislature in limiting the commission to liquidation activities and deferred consideration of the plan, indicating that a conference at which the leaders agreed to serve for the rest of the summer as a state drought committee. Other steps decided up on were:

1. Continuation of thorough surveys of crop conditions. It was such a survey last week that prompted the governor to call the conference.

2. An educational program which would have for its objective the cooperation and purchase of live for seed.

3. Purchase with state funds of poles to check crop damage from grasshoppers.

It was agreed by the group that conditions did not yet warrant asking federal officials to designate Illinois as the primary drought area, said a formal statement issued by the conference members.

"The conference was unanimous in making a request of federal officials to liberize reserve policies covering loans for feed and seed so that in spotted areas and for such individuals where conditions fully warrant, assistance could be immediately available through existing federal agencies."

Three representatives of farm credit agencies were present at the meeting. They said that without further liberalization of reserve policies covering loans for feed and seed so that in spotted areas and for such individuals where conditions fully warrant, assistance could be immediately available through existing federal agencies."

According to W. P. Oliver and R. L. Hunter of St. Louis and John M. Croke of Carmel the federal representatives present loans "with sufficient security" are available through the 20 production credit associations in Illinois.

W. J. Carmichael, state director of the rural rehabilitation resettlement administration, also pointed out that small loans and in some cases grants are made on crops through his organization.

Conference Called To Discuss Methods Of Drought Control

Will Investigate Upstream Engineering for Report

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—At the suggestion of President Roosevelt, a conference was called today on upstream engineering to discuss long-range drought relief planning through "little water" control.

Morris L. Cooke, chairman of the president's Great Plains drought area committee, said the conference, to be held here September 23 and 24, was intended in part to bring together information on rainfall and run-off collected by the committee as well as its recommendations.

Mr. Roosevelt, in asking the committee to report to him during a personal inspection of the arid north-west late in August, stressed his desire for permanent control of natural water supplies at their source or "upstream."

"Since our committee's study in the field will correlate all the latest data on rainfall and run-off," Cooke said, "it will be very important material for upstream engineering discussions. The president had in mind the pointing up of a new water conservation policy in drought areas when he called the conference."

During the day the agriculture department drought committee, keeping a close watch on the spread of the parched areas, added 55 more counties in four states to the emergency drought list, including 27 counties in Kansas—which became an officially drought-stricken for the first time.

Bishop Expected To Make Plea for Father Coughlin

Radio Priest Faces Discipline for Political Activities

Vatican City, July 24.—(AP)—Bishop Michael Gallagher of Detroit was expected tonight in high Vatican circles to make a formal defense of Father Charles E. Coughlin, who faces possible discipline for political activities.

Bishop Gallagher, whom prelates call the "fighting bishop" is to arrive in Naples tomorrow en route to an audience with Pope Pius.

One of the subjects of their conference, such subjects are, however, may be the "radio priest" characterization of President Roosevelt as a liar, a denunciation for which he has apologized yesterday.

Vatican officials talked with the American priest by trans-Atlantic telephone last week a reliable source declared. Whether the conversation has any connection with the apostasy was not disclosed.

Horner, Aides Say Emergency Not Yet Reached in Drought

Recognize Need in Spotted Areas in Plea for Aid To Wallace

Springfield, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Accord that emergency drought relief was unnecessary immediately. Governor Horner and farm leaders tonight recommended to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace that credit requirements of federal agencies be liberalized to provide prompt aid for farmers in "spotted" Illinois areas.

The recommendation was made at the conclusion of a three-hour conference at which the leaders agreed to serve for the rest of the summer as a state drought committee. Other steps decided up on were:

1. Continuation of thorough surveys of crop conditions. It was such a survey last week that prompted the governor to call the conference.

2. An educational program which would have for its objective the cooperation and purchase of live for seed.

3. Purchase with state funds of poles to check crop damage from grasshoppers.

It was agreed by the group that conditions did not yet warrant asking federal officials to designate Illinois as the primary drought area, said a formal statement issued by the conference members.

Landon Address Evokes Comment Among Leaders

Glass Denies That He Will "Take a Walk" from His Party

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—The speech by Governor Alf Landon accepting the Republican presidential nomination evoked criticism and praise today amidst a series of other developments bearing on the political campaign.

James A. Farley, in a statement as the Democratic chairman, said the Kansas senator appeared more concerned with "dodging" than with definitely discussing his principles last night.

Republican headquarters in Chicago made public messages of commendation including one by Governor Harry W. Speed of Maryland, saying it was a great speech, "one of the best and soundest of a great American." In another, Charles D. Hillis, the national committeeman for New York, said his unequivocal declaration of the unshakable support of the party for Landon was "the spirit of American enterprise is most heartening."

President Roosevelt, who heard the address on his vacation schooner off the Nova Scotia coast, made no comment.

Among the banings of the day, Senator Carter Glass (D-Va.) said it was "houseless" to interpret a recent assertion by him as indicative that he would "take a walk" from his party.

Regarding the reaction to the executive order placing all postmasterhips under the civil service, he said no such move would have been necessary "if the Republicans had voted for one of those civil service bills in congress last year."

In a statement at Grand Rapids meanwhile, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said the Roosevelt effort "is a new scheme to give life jobs to existing Farley incumbents," and that "typically Rooseveltian is the fact that this thing is done by executive order rather than by legislation."

Among the Roosevelt supporters who found fault with the Landon speech were Representative O'Connor (D-N.Y.) and Francis J. Gorman, first vice president of the United Textile workers.

The legislator, in a statement said it was "as good a guess as any that the governor's speech was written by the Manufacturers' Association and edited by the Liberty League."

"This hollow hypocritical subterfuge" the Gorman statement said about Landon's position on collective bargaining, "is merely the lip service paid by the Republican party to the growing urge of American labor to organize."

Neighbors told police the children were playing in an alley back of the Rhein home. The girl, shot in the chest, died almost instantly.

PREDICT RAINS WILL RELIEVE DROUGHT AREA

Mercury Soars In Kansas; Ohio Benefited By Showers

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—Beneficial showers for the drought-pinched fields of the western corn belt area were forecast today after a "million dollar" rain fell last night on Ohio and adjacent states.

The good news was announced by Weatherman J. R. Lloyd here. He said there would be widespread but local showers from the Dakotas east through western Indiana and south through Missouri tonight or tomorrow.

They will be sufficient in volume to be of value to crops except in the Dakotas, he added. "There they will be mostly sprinkles."

"The showers in Ohio last night, however, could be described as of the million dollar variety. As much as two and one-half inches of rain fell in that state and the precipitation extended to north east Indiana, western Pennsylvania and northeastern Kentucky."

"There were showers also in Maryland and the northeastern state including New York but excepting Maine. It was raining in Maine today."

The prediction dampened the enthusiasm of corn growers on the Chicago board of trade. Prices dropped back almost three cents, wheat declined two cents. September corn finished at $7.11.

No alleviation for the hot weather in Kansas, Nebraska, and South Dakota was in prospect, however. At Eureka, Kan., the mercury soared to new highs today giving Topeka an all time record of 113 degrees. Have sweltered under its hottest day of the year at 116, a top duplicated at Salina. It was 108 at Wichita and 115 at Hill City. High temperatures continued in Southern California also, the fatalities ascribed to the heat there reaching 25 for the current spell.

In Chicago, western railroad lines made a big contribution to drought aid by slashing freight rates on feed for pastured cattle of the stricken northwest territory. Roughage will be carried into the area at 50 per cent the regular charge and hay, at 33-1/2 per cent. Chairman E. S. Boyd said that the new rates would be in effect at once in Montana, North Dakota and portions of South Dakota.

Boy Testifies He Shot His Uncle To Death By Request

Ailing Man Was Playing At War With 7 Year Old Lad

Kankakee, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of "death by a gunshot wound" in the case of Ronald Ashline, 26, whose seven year old nephew testified he pulled the trigger at Ashline's request.

The boy, Louis Messick, testified he was playing "war" with Ashline yesterday afternoon in their home in nearby Bradley when Ashline produced a shotgun, placed it against his own head and asked the boy to pull the trigger.

The lad said they were alone in the house at the time.

Coroner A. E. Kerser called three other witnesses at the inquest, Ashline's mother, Mrs. Alvina Ashline, and his brothers, Leonard of Kankakee, and Edward of Bradley. They testified Ashline was partially paralyzed in an automobile accident six years ago, and that he was despondent.

In finding Ashline to have died from a gun-shot wound, the jury included in its verdict the story told by the boy.

Youth Trapped In Well Four Hours

Pinned at Bottom By Rocks As Walls Collapse

Zanesville, O., July 24.—(AP)—Laird Ankrum, a 17-year-old farm youth, spent four hours today trapped at the bottom of a 25-foot well, then expressed surprise at the size of the crowd waiting as rescuers brought him to the surface.

"It looks like half the county was here to watch you fellows bring me out," said Ankrum with a weak smile, after he spent the last half hour of his imprisonment directing the volunteer rescue squad in removing rocks which pinned him down.

The rescuers won a race with water, which seeped slowly into the bottom of the well. The youth was trapped when the walls collapsed as he was cleaning the well. When they reached him the rising water was within a few inches of his face.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fanning of the Murraville community were callers to Jacksonville yesterday.

THRESHING MACHINE EXPLODES

Alexandria, Rumania, July 24.—(AP)—Nine peasants were killed today and ten seriously injured when a threshing machine exploded and caused an extensive fire in the fields.

STRONG PICK-UP OF BUSINESS IN AUTUMN IS SEEN

Usual Seasonal Drop Failed To Appear In June

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Signs of a business pick-up stronger than had been expected are reported by the American Federation of Labor today in its monthly business survey. At the same time, the federal reserve board noted that the volume of production, employment and trade held up to its May level throughout June, contrary to a usual seasonal decline. "Buyers for retail stores are flocking to new York and Chicago in larger numbers than in any of the last six years," the A. F. L. survey said. "A better fall retail season than any since 1929 is expected and orders to manufacturers should create many jobs and raise workers' buying power. "Because sales of autos have held their high level longer than anticipated this year, automobile manufacturers will probably start their fall production of next year's models in September instead of November, putting men to work two months earlier. "Electric power plants are already ordering equipment for central power stations, orders for railroad equipment are continuing at a higher level than expected, building contract awards showed an unusual increase in June. "This means a busy fall season for steel and other heavy industries, and observers are now forecasting a sharp upturn of business in the fall when auto factories start production of new models. "It is generally believed that the force of recovery has now gained enough strength to prevent any serious setback from political uncertainties next fall; but one other cloud on the horizon—the drought—may become serious. "Crops have already been damaged in the drought sections (Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming) and unless we have rainfall within the next two weeks, farmers' buying power will also be much reduced in the corn belt. "The survey repeated several former assertions that 're-employment is not keeping pace with recovery' and that 'if recovery is to put the unemployed to work present hour schedules must not be lengthened. "Wages, the survey added, must keep pace with living costs which rose two per cent from April to June. "The reserve board's observations, made in its monthly summary of general business and financial conditions, noted that wholesale prices of commodities advanced in June, reflecting in part the effects of the drought.

James Convicted Of First Degree Murder By Jury

Death Sentence Mandatory for Barber Who Killed Wife

Los Angeles, July 24.—(AP)—Robert S. James was convicted of first degree murder tonight for the rattlesnake-drowning death of his seventh wife, Mary. The jury did not recommend life imprisonment so the death sentence is mandatory. The superior court jury returned its verdict after deliberating slightly more than nine hours. James was charged with drowning his wife in a bathtub last August 4 after subjecting her to torture by the fangs of a rattlesnake. He killed her to collect $20,000 life insurance, the prosecution charged. The red-haired, green-eyed barber displayed no emotion at the verdict. His pale face was immobile, as if he had been during most of his long trial. Earlier, after the jury had been in retirement several hours, he had smiled and said: "I'm going to win." Sentence will be pronounced Tuesday morning. Charles Hope, an ex-sailor, accused James of trying to kill him after the death of the seventh Mrs. James. Hope's story came as he renewed his plea of guilty in the case. Hope was adjudged guilty by Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke who earlier had instructed the James' jury that the green-eyed barber must be sentenced to the gallows, life imprisonment—or freed. "Now that the trial is concluded and the case has been given to the jury, I can state that I am satisfied Robert James murdered his wife," the judge told Hope. He withheld sentencing the ex-sailor. Because of the degree of his guilt—first degree murder—it must be either the gallows or life imprisonment.

Paul Wendel Goes Before Grand Jury With Kidnap Story

Charges He Was Held and Tortured Into Making Confession

Newark, N. J., July 24.—(AP)—Paul H. Wendel, former Trenton attorney, went before the federal grand jury today to tell his bizarre story of abduction and torture by which he said he was forced to make a false confession to the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Brooks Speaks At Bunker Hill Friday

GOP Nominee Stresses Fight For Freedom

Bunker Hill, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—C. Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, told residents of this historically named community today, "our people stand again at Bunker Hill." "Once more we fight in defense of our homes," he said. "The right to freedom, self government and opportunity is at stake. From now until Nov. 3 every American worthy of his ancestry must man the trenches and beat back the alien forces that would regiment our people, destroy self government and turn our citizens into subjects of a centralized state." Brooks addressed a Republican picnic. The Brooklyn hotel conference, the News quoted Wendel as saying, was a meeting of a number of men, several of whom were friendly to Hauptmann. During the conference, Wendel said, according to the News, disclosures were made which were never revealed before by Hauptmann regarding his guilt in the Lindbergh case. "The Newark News said Wendel was prepared to tell 'a sensational story' of a conference involving disclosures by Bruno Richard Hauptmann which was held in a Brooklyn hotel. Wendel also had with him, the News said, a copy of an alleged letter which he claims was sent by Governor Hoffman to Ellis H. Parker on Feb. 28 while Wendel was being held at the New Lisbon Colony for Feeble Minded Males. Governor Hoffman has said he was not aware of Wendel's detention, or confession until the week-end of March 28 when Wendel was turned over to Mercer county authorities by Parker.

CALLS JUDGE "DAFFY" BUT HAS LAST WORD

Seattle, July 24.—(AP)—Eddie Welch, 40, appeared in police court today for the third time since July 7 on a charge of being drunk. "Ten days," decreed Judge William R. Bell. "I think you're daffy," Welch objected. "Thirty days," the judge retorted. "You're daffy," Welch retorted. "Thirty days!" "Daffy!" "And a $300 fine," stormed Judge Bell. Ninety days and $300 is the maximum penalty, so Eddie had the last word. "I still think you're daffy," he muttered.

REBEL ADVANCE ON CAPITAL OF SPAIN SMASHED

Invaders Driven Back With Heavy Losses

Madrid, July 24.—(AP)—A rebel advance on Madrid from the Northwest was smashed in a day-long battle in the Guadarrama mountains and the government claimed tonight the danger of attack on the capital had been definitely averted for the present. The invaders, driven off with heavy losses by massed battalions of civil guards, assault guards and militia in the conflict on the rough mountain slopes, were reported tonight in full flight toward Segovia. So confident was the government of a complete victory that it ordered the militia which had been patrolling the capital's streets in private cars to go back to work. Only official vehicles will be permitted on the streets, the government announced. At the same time, however, it ordered conscripts who had been scheduled to join the colors in November to report August 1. Official sources declared the city of Segovia, southern rebel stronghold, had surrendered to loyalists. There was no immediate confirmation of the claim. At Zaragosa, revolutionists were reported to have taken refuge in a church. Government forces were said to be steadily converging on the city in three directions—from Madrid, Barcelona and Valencia. San Sebastian, Spain's summer capital in the north, was in the hands of loyal troops after a desperate struggle, the government asserted. Rebels were holding out at Cordoba, the government said, but militia were pouring into the region in an attempt to rout them. Hueaca, held by the revolutionists, was heavily bombed by loyal airplanes, the government said.

U. S. Ambassador Reported Safe In Spain As Removal Of Americans Progresses

Landon to Open Eastern Campaign Late in August

Will Speak in New York and Pennsylvania. At His Birthplace

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—Ambassador Claude G. Bowers telephoned the state department tonight from his villa at Puente de San Sebastian, relieving official anxiety over his safety in revolt-ridden Spain. Bowers telephoned while a wholesale evacuation of American nationals from areas of rioting was underway. He reported that all Americans so desiring had been evacuated from San Sebastian and that tonight an American warship, the Oklahoma, and the Coastguard Cutter Cayuga rode at anchor in the harbor of that city. Stray bullets, he said, had splattered on the walls of the hotel in San Sebastian housing the American chancery. "Contradictory" reports on the general situation in Spain were current, he said. Bowers reported rebels held Seville, Pamplona, Burgos and Saragosa, while the government was in control in Madrid and San Sebastian. At about the same time the American consul at Seville reported to the state department that large Spanish city was in the hands of a Fascist military group led by General Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, who seized the government there last Saturday. His dispatch was sent from Gibraltar to which it was brought by the British warship Shamrock, which also conveyed 27 Americans from Seville to the safety of Gibraltar. "Dispatches from Madrid said official sources declared Seville had surrendered to Loyalists but that there was no immediate confirmation of the claim. Deep concern had been felt here over the safety of Bowers in a situation which previously had seen the killing of two foreigners protected by the United States flag, flown from an automobile. Reports made prior to Bowers telephonic conversation had described conditions as horrible. Bowers advised that the Americans who preferred to leave San Sebastian had departed on a British vessel just before the arrival of the two American ships. Concern was heightened during the day by the receipt of a dispatch from the summer embassy at San Sebastian from which the ambassador had been cut off by slashed telephone wires and barricaded roads, saying: "The city is without government, conditions are horrible, and there have been no communications in or out of the city for three days." The battleship Oklahoma meanwhile was approaching Bilbao, a short distance west of San Sebastian on the Bay of Biscay, where American consular officials yesterday sent an urgent appeal for a vessel to evacuate American women and children. At the same time, the Cruiser Quincy was nearing Gibraltar and was under orders to proceed to nearby Malaga, whence a similar call for help came yesterday from the American consul. Amid the swiftly accumulating diplomatic reports that increasingly serious conditions prevailed in many parts of Spain, the state department was cheered by the receipt of word that the American export liner Exeter arrived at Barcelona this morning, where upward of 100 Americans and as many more other foreigners awaited removal. Less fortunate than coast points were the more than 100 Americans who had taken refuge in the embassy at Madrid. Officials acknowledged there was little chance in the immediate future of transporting them to the coast to the greater safety of foreign ships.

FEDERAL MONEY EASES ILLINOIS RELIEF PROBLEM

IERC Turns Over Fund To The State As Loan

Chicago, July 23.—(AP)—A temporary solution of the problem presented by relief administration costs was reached today when $200,000 of federal funds—the balances remaining in several accounts—were made available by the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. Leo M. Lyons, secretary of the commission and Chicago relief commissioner, told commission members that with the approval of Gov. Henry Horner and Howard O. Hunter, federal relief administrator in the mid-west area, the money would be advanced to the city of Chicago and other governmental units unable to pay salaries of necessary employees until such time as the legislature amends the state law and permits use of special tax funds for this purpose. Lyons made it clear that the federal money had been reserved for payment of accounts not yet liquidated, and was only a loan, to be repaid at such time as the legislature may take the necessary action. The commission approved the transaction without dissent. Of the total, about $125,000 will go to Cook county and the remainder downstate—as needed. WPA officials informed the commission today that the latter's proposal to set up a WPA project to survey the needs of WPA employees—with the view of removing those no longer in need of such employment—could not be authorized. Members of the commission, however, felt that such a re-survey and its attendant costs went beyond the intent of the state legislature in limiting the commission to liquidation activities, and deferred consideration of the plan, indicating that it would be laid before the legislature when it meets again Aug. 4. The commission approved the transaction without dissent. Of the total, about $125,000 will go to Cook county and the remainder downstate—as needed.

Bishop Expected To Make Plea for Father Coughlin

Radio Priest Faces Discipline for Political Activities

Vatican City, July 24.—(AP)—Bishop Michael Gallagher of Detroit was expected tonight in high Vatican circles to make an earnest defense of Father Charles E. Coughlin, who faces possible discipline for political activities. Bishop Gallagher, whom prelates call the "fighting bishop," is to arrive in Naples tomorrow enroute to an audience with Pope Pius. One of the subjects of their conference, high church circles believed, may be the radio priest's characterization of President Roosevelt as a "liar," a denunciation for which he publicly apologized yesterday. Vatican officials talked with the American priest by trans-Atlantic telephone last week, a reliable source declared. Whether the conversation had any connection with the apology was not disclosed.

PREDICT RAINS WILL RELIEVE DROUGHT AREA

Mercury Soars In Kan- sas; Ohio Benefited By Showers

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—Beneficial showers for the drought-pinched fields of the western corn belt area were forecast today after a "million dollar" rain fell last night on Ohio and adjacent states. The good news was announced by Weatherman J. R. Lloyd here. He said there would be widespread but local showers from the Dakotas east through western Indiana and south through Missouri tonight or tomorrow. "They will be sufficient in volume to be of value to crops except in the Dakotas," he added. "There they will be mostly sprinkles." "The showers in Ohio last night, however, could be described as of the million dollar variety. As much as two and one-half inches of rain fell in that state and the precipitation extended to north east Indiana, western Pennsylvania and northeastern Kentucky. "There were showers also in Maryland and the northeastern state including New York but excepting Maine. It was raining in Maine today." The prediction dampened the enthusiasm of corn buyers on the Chicago board of trade. Prices dropped back almost three cents, wheat declined two cents. September corn finished at $1.11. No alleviation for the hot weather in Kansas, Nebraska, and South Dakota was in prospect, however. At Eureka, Kan., the mercury soared to new highs today giving Topeka an all time record of 113 degrees. Hays sweltered under its hottest day of the year at 116, a top duplicated at Salina. It was 108 at Wichita and 115 at Hill City. High temperatures continued in Southern California also, the fatalities ascribed to the heat there reaching 25 for the current spell. In Chicago, western railroad lines made a big contribution to drought aid by slashing freight rates on feed for pastureless cattle of the stricken northwest territory. Roughage will be carried into the area at 50 per cent the regular charge and hay at 33-1/2 per cent. Chairman E. S. Boyd said that the new rates would take effect at once in Montana, North Dakota and portions of South Dakota.

Boy Testifies He Shot His Uncle To Death By Request

Ailing Man Was Playing At War With 7 Year Old Lad

Kankakee, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—A cornerer's jury today returned a verdict of "death by a gunshot wound" in the case of Ronald Ashline, 26, whose seven year old nephew testified he pulled the trigger at Ashline's request. The boy, Louis Messick, testified he was playing "war" with Ashline yesterday afternoon in their home in nearby Bradley when Ashline produced a shotgun, placed it against his own head and asked the boy to pull the trigger. The lad said they were alone in the house at the time. Cornerer J. E. Karger called three other witnesses at the inquest, Ashline's mother, Mrs. Alvina Ashline, and his brothers, Leonard of Kankakee, and Edward of Bradley. They testified Ashline was partially paralyzed in an automobile accident six years ago, and that he was despondent. In finding Ashline to have died from a gunshot wound, the jury included in its verdict the story told by the boy. The rescuers won a race with water, which seeped slowly into the bottom of the well. The youth was trapped when the walls collapsed as he was cleaning the well. When he reached him the rising water was within a few inches of his face. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fanning of the Murrayville community were callers at Jacksonville yesterday.

Horner, Aides Say Emergency Not Yet Reached in Drought

Recognize Need in Spotted Areas in Plea for Aid To Wallace

Springfield, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Agreed that emergency drought relief was unnecessary immediately, Governor Horner and farm leaders tonight recommended to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace that credit requirements of federal agencies be liberalized to provide prompt aid for farmers in "spotted" Illinois areas. The recommendation was made at the conclusion of a three hour conference at which the leaders agreed to serve for the rest of the summer as a state drought committee. Other steps decided up on were: 1. Continuation of thorough surveys of crop conditions. It was such a survey last week that prompted the governor to call the conference. 2. An educational program, which would have for its objective the conservation and purchase of eye for seed. 3. Purchase with state funds of poison to check crop damage from grasshoppers. It was agreed by the group that conditions did not yet warrant asking federal officials to designate Illinois as the primary drought area," said a formal statement issued by the conference members. "The conference was unanimous in making a request of federal officials to liberalize present policies covering loans for feed and seed so that in spotted areas and for such individuals where conditions fully warrant, assistance could be immediately available through existing federal agencies." Three representatives of farm credit agencies were present at the meeting. They said that without further liberalization of credit requirements their organizations "were ready and willing to provide credit to Illinois farmers within from five to 10 days after application." According to St. Louis, and John M. Coughlin of Carmel, federal representatives present, loans "with sufficient security" are available through the 20 production credit associations in Illinois. W. J. Carmichael, state director of the rural rehabilitation resettlement administration, also pointed out that small loans, and in some cases, grants are made on crops through his organization. Horner Undecided On Special Session Call Would Include Matters Dropped By 4th Session Springfield, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Governor Horner today said he did not know whether he would call another special session of the legislature. He added, however, that if the assembly is reconvened the call would include all subjects on which the fourth special session failed to act before it adjourned a month ago. Unfinished business at that session included amendment of the revenue article of the state constitution and legislation against the use of eastern standard time in Chicago. The governor declared he did not contemplate the appointment of a successor to Irvn Rooks of Chicago, who resigned as chief counsel and executive officer of the Illinois commerce commission. Mr. Horner said the $9,000 yearly salary could be saved and that James M. Slattery, new chairman, would be able to do Rooks' work. John E. Cassidy of Peoria had been considered for the commerce commission job. THRESHING MACHINE EXPLODES Alexandria, Rumania, July 24.—(AP)—Nine peasants were killed today and ten seriously injured when a threshing machine exploded and caused an extensive fire in the fields.

Settlement Seen In Christian Co. WPA Controversy

Ban Picketing, Offer to Let Workers Make Up Lost Time

Taylorville, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—An ultimatum that picketing would be prohibited and an offer to allow workers to make up lost time tonight were regarded by WPA officials as tending to break the strike for increased wages by approximately 700 Christian county WPA employees. L. C. Lawless, county WPA supervisor, said that indications were that a majority of the 40 projects would be in operation the first of next week, after warning a group of workers at Pana that a continuance of the protest might result in the county's quota of jobs being cancelled. An inducement to get the workers to go back to their jobs was seen in the announcement by T. R. Harris of Decatur, assistant district WPA director, that if the workers desired they could make up time lost by the walkout and receive full pay checks next Tuesday night. Meanwhile, Sheriff Ed Marvel placed a definite ban against picketing, declaring that the WPA projects were to provide work for the jobless and those who desired to take advantage of the opportunity would be protected and no interference would be allowed. Lawless said the five-day week plan was being adopted this week and that about 300 men worked today on projects in the northern part of the county. At Pana, workers expressed the opinion that about 85 per cent of the men there desired to work and that the controversy had originated with a small group of agitators.

Uncle Held for Questioning in Clevenger Death

Professor Who Found Niece Murdered Arrested In Asheville

Asheville, N. C., July 24.—(AP)—Sheriff Laurence E. Brown announced early tonight Prof. W. L. Clevenger of N. C. State College had been "detained for investigation" in connection with the slaying of his niece, Helen Clevenger, here July 15. Brown said the 54-year-old bachelor, a member of the faculty at State college, was taken into custody at 3 p. m. soon after he arrived here from attending his niece's funeral in Ohio. "I had hoped to have a confession for you boys by 7 p. m.," the sheriff said, "but I am unable to give it to you. I may not have it for a week or ten days yet." The sheriff declined to say if Clevenger was the man he had previously said he suspected of being the ravisher-murderer of the young niece and had promised to arrest by 7 o'clock tonight. Clevenger's work as a dairy specialist at N. C. State college takes him upon frequent tours of the state and the 18-year-old New York university honor student was accompanying her uncle on one of these trips when she was slain ten days ago. It was Clevenger who reported finding the body of his niece in her room at a fashionable resort hotel here at 8 a. m.—seven hours after the hour officials fixed the time she was slain by an intruder who first ravished her.

Conference Called To Discuss Methods Of Drought Control

Will Investigate Upstream Engineering for Report

Washington, July 24.—(AP)—At the suggestion of President Roosevelt, a conference was called today on upstream engineering to discuss long-range drought relief planning through "little water" control. Morris L. Cooke, chairman of the president's Great Plains drought area committee, said the conference, to be held here September 23 and 24, was intended in part to bring together information on rainfall and run-off collected by the committee as well as its recommendations. Mr. Roosevelt, in asking the committee to report to him during a personal inspection of the arid north-west in August, stressed his desire for permanent control of natural water supplies at their source, or "upstream." "Since our committee's study in the field will correlate all the latest data on rainfall and run-off," Cooke said, "it will be very important material for upstream engineering discussions. The president had in mind the point-point policy in drought areas when he called the conference." During the day the agriculture department drought committee, keeping a close watch on the spread of the parched areas, added 55 more counties in four states to the emergency drought list, including 27 counties in Kansas which became an officially drought state for the first time.

Young Republicans To Hear F. Turner

Will Be Keynote Speaker At Peoria Convention

Chicago, July 24.—(AP)—Thomas J. Downs, president of the Young Republicans of Illinois, announced today Frederick W. Turner, Jr., of Chicago would be the keynote speaker and temporary chairman of the organization's convention at Peoria, Ill., Sunday. Evan Howell, of Springfield, past president of the state organization, will be the permanent chairman. The following will serve as chairman of the committees: Noble G. Johnson, Paxton, resolutions; Ralph W. Ibenfeldt, Chicago, constitution; Ward C. Weist, Chicago, credentials; George B. Lee, Harrisburg, rules, and William John Granda, Chicago, permanent organization. Downs said nearly 4,000 delegates and alternates were expected to attend the convention. He asserted each county, downstate, and each ward and township in Cook county was entitled to one delegate and one alternate for each 500 votes cast in the primary. "On this basis," he said, "the maximum number of delegates and alternates that could be recognized would be 3,960."

J. Stelle Pledges Democratic Unity

Asserts State Primary Fight Has Been Buried

Golconda, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Before one of the largest crowds in the history of the Pope County Fair, State Treasurer John Stelle yesterday paid tribute to Governor Horner and assured Southern Illinois Democrats there would be no split in the state party. In sharp contrast to his bitter attacks against Governor Horner during the heated primary battle, Stelle said the primary fight had been "buried" and that the Cook county organization would back Horner to the limit in the coming fall campaign. STILL CONFISCATED Danville, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Rex Garland, of Bridgeport, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner A. R. Hall here today on charges of possessing a still and untaxed liquor. Garland was unable to furnish $1,000 bail for his release. He was seized by two federal agents yesterday after they confiscated 10 gallons of alcohol and a 75 gallon still.

CIRCUS ELOPEMENT

Los Angeles, July 24.—(AP)—The Tattooed Lady ran away with the circus "Wild Man." Behind her, she left the show's "barker," Frank E. Hank, and Hank told about it today in obtaining an annulment. It was bad enough, he said, to be deserted only two months and 24 days after the wedding. But, on top of that, he added, he learned his bride—"Nellie, the Tattooed Lady"—had not obtained a final decree of divorce from a former husband.

Small Boy Shoots Playmate

East St. Louis, Ill., July 24.—(AP)—Six-year-old Rita Rhein was fatally wounded today, police said, when an automatic pistol accidentally went off in the hands of Jack Olson, 6, who was playing with the weapon. Neighbors told police the children were playing in an alley back of the Rhein home. The girl, shot in the chest, died almost instantly.

Threshing Machine Explodes

Alexandria, Rumania, July 24.—(AP)—Nine peasants were killed today and ten seriously injured when a threshing machine exploded and caused an extensive fire in the fields.

Pensions or Relief?

Old age pension machinery in Illinois seems to be hopelessly clogged. It has been shown that of the 1150 persons who have applied for pensions in this county, only 28 are now receiving monthly checks. Hundreds of the applications have been passed along by the county board and are now somewhere in the Springfield office. Meanwhile aged citizens sit at home wondering what has happened to the promised income that will enable them to keep off relief rolls and spend their declining years with a poor subsistence, but free from the fear of starvation.

At Edwardsville two aged men have filed a suit to determine whether the state has a right to cut an allowance fixed by the county board. In this case the allowance of pension was cut from the maximum $15 to $5 monthly. Just how anyone is to keep the wolf out of the house with such a pittance perhaps experts in home economics can explain, but we doubt it.

With scores of aged citizens in this county it is either pensions or relief. The aim of the state law was to take these people off the relief rolls and away from the almshouses. That can be done only if the pensions are granted and kept paid up each month. Promises will not do, it is cash that counts in the battle against poverty for the aged.

Landon Talks Sense

In his address of acceptance of the Republican presidential nomination Governor Alf Landon of Kansas talks sense. He offers no panaceas for continuing New Deal experiments, nor does he condemn everything that has been done in the past three and a half years.

He recognizes that certain needs must be met, that there must be relief for those who need it, and that the farmer must have help in emergencies. But he points out that government regulation must no longer be allowed to throttle individual initiative, and that recovery can come only when the resources of the nation are released for the use of the people without interference from the government.

The enervating effects of constant aid for the people are already apparent. Part of the recovery that must come will consist of the restoration of that sturdy independence which has made our country the land of the greatest opportunities. Governor Landon has mapped out a program that has for its aim the return to the people of that independence.

Month of Comets

Two comets are traveling in the neighborhood of the earth for the next few weeks, and may be seen with the naked eye if the star-gazer knows where to look and will look carefully enough. We will not notice any peculiar difference in the atmosphere, and the world is not expected to come to an end. The two sky visitors portend no such bad luck.

Fact is, their itinerary calls for a visit in the vicinity of the earth this year. Other times they are engaged elsewhere, but they are always on the go, and their home is the wide open space of the sky. They have no mailing address.

We well remember the visit of Halley's comet in these parts in 1910. The comet was plainly visible for several weeks. It could be seen in the southwestern sky, and the tail was very pronounced.

Scientists stated that the earth would pass thru Halley's comet's tail on the night of May 18, 1910. We remained out of doors until a late hour, just in case anything happened. It was a bright moonlight night and the comet was not even visible. Nothing happened, which may or may not explain why we lived to write this article.

Comets are really the hoboes of the sky, but unlike the tramps we know, they usually have a rather definite route to follow. The route is so long that they call at Mother Earth's door only once in a human lifetime. Halley's comet will not be back until 1985.

LOCATE HERE TEMPORARILY

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dickman and daughter, Geraldine of Rockford, Illinois, are now located at 1507 Mound avenue. Mr. Dickman and family will remain in Jacksonville indefinitely, since he is overseeing the heating plant in the new auditorium now under construction at the School for the Deaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Simmons were visitors in Jacksonville yesterday from Murrayville.

Dr. Wadsworth Describes Selassie's Plea to League

Mrs. Richard Yates, who is now making her home in this city, recently received an interesting letter from her brother, Dr. Julian Wadsworth, telling of the failure of the League of Nations to save Ethiopia from conquest by the forces of Mussolini. Dr. Wadsworth, who has lived for a number of years in Geneva, Switzerland, the home of the league, was present when the defeated Emperor Haile Selassie presented his case before the league and was made the object of insulting remarks by members of the Italian delegation. In the letter which follows he vividly describes this incident as well as many other interesting events.

Geneva, Carlton Parc Hotel.
Sunday, July 5, 1936.
The week has been full of most tragic events, as you may know from the papers. Both the meetings of the council and the assembly of the league have been held as long announced. With my press ticket, I have been able to attend all the public meetings and have secured tickets for Maie in the diplomatic section.

It has been painful for us to watch a painful failure on the part of the league in which we have had such implicit faith from its inception sixteen years now past. Again and again it has failed, because it was not strong. It was the weakness of a child of which the strength of a man was expected. It was not sufficiently supported by the nations of commanding strength.

League Hopes Dashed
Last October we had hoped we had almost reached a place where "safety and solidarity" had been secured when fifty-two states signed the covenant to guard the integrity of Abyssinia, one of the smallest members of the league. But to the chagrin of us all, suddenly a change of policy came, with a "terrible fear" of general war, and success slipped from the league and Italy made her victorious conquest, with the aid of the finest modern military equipment of modern times, one of the weakest and most poorly prepared countries in the league. Thus we have witnessed this most pitiable spectacle of a failure of fifty-two nations, led by three of the strongest in the world, to save from destruction a single little nation!

Can you picture this poor little African country—fighting for its life? It had been promised that nothing could take its life while under the protection of this powerful institution. This member in the family of these world powers, just emerging from helplessness, barbarism, pleading in the person of its ruling emperor. Day after day we have watched this tragedy, and our hearts have ached, because nothing has seemed possible at this late date to save the life of this nation. It has been crushed apparently to death by the grinding greed of a powerfully armed nation that has gone in the name of Christian civilization to the very heart of that African empire and has driven out its monarch, with all his followers, to utter ruin, declaring with a glorious "victory" that his possessions will henceforth be a part of the "Italian empire!" Oh, it makes one blush for shame, that such can be the truth of a fait accompli.

Statement From Mussolini
I wish you might have seen it all that first morning in the assembly, when the "statement" from Mussolini for his government had been read. A pompous statement it was, declaring that what had been accomplished had been done for civilization, and now if the league will raise the "sanctions" then this government will "agree to come at once" into cooperation with the other members of the league and consent to "reform to the covenant." Think of the audacity of this statement, they will reform the very covenant, which they themselves have so recently and so flagrantly violated.

Selassie Calm in Face of Boiling
After the Italian communication had been read, the president called to the tribune, His Imperial Majesty, the former (or is he still?) Emperor of Ethiopia, Haile Selassie. I wish I might have seen him as he walked to the platform with the perfect ease of a gentleman and the calm grace and composure of a man conscious of his own integrity and a just cause for defense. He stood modestly, yet with a regal dignity, in the presence of us all, when suddenly there came from the Italian section of the press balcony hideous yells, with loud raucous voices calling, "uncivilized barbarian!" "uncivilized barbarian!" with loud whistles. You can't think of anything more disgusting than such an exhibition. Federal guards and policemen quickly had eight of these in arms and were rushing them out and to prison. Had you seen the fine poise of the Negus, with perfect calmness as he stood there for the moment in the presence of this wild despicable treatment of himself, you could not but have admired him the more. Which, think you of the two was the more civilized—the representatives accredited from the Italian press, or the intelligent, cultivated man from Abyssinia? My, what a scene was that! The deposed emperor of a government standing in the League of Nations, standing in the presence of fifty-two states of the world and the most part of them Christian nations, and here was this gross treatment of him by representatives of a nation that had in the name of "Christian civilization" taken their land from them. Which of the two, think you, is the more Christian and the more civilized?

Interview With the Emperor
I have had several interviews here in the hotel with Haile Selassie, Negus of Abyssinia, and am deeply impressed with his fine personality, which is like the simplicity of a child in his apparent trust that his country can be saved by the promise of these fifty-two strong nations of the world. One was in company with the press, on the day of his arrival. I stood so near to him that I could have held his hand. He spoke in his native tongue, Amharic, which was translated into French. He then gave his statement in French to his interpreter which was a confident hope that his just cause would find an ample defense with so many powerful countries here assembled.

He told us of the use of poison, which the enemy carried in airplanes and literally "rained down from the skies" poisoned the wells of water as well. His simplicity and sincerity won the sympathy of us all, and yet there was all the time the feeling of helplessness, because the thing had already been done and no power apparently could now undo the past. Later, I was in company with about twenty when we had a more intimate conversation with His Majesty, and liked him even better. Several other times I have come into his presence.

Meets Ethiopian Boy
In the delegation is a lad 14 years old, whom I have come to know. His name is Ras Kassa, governor of the Province of Gondar. I was told by others that this boy, on the death of his father, would have become Prince, or Ras Asrat. He speaks almost perfect English, which he learned in the school and mission in Addis Ababa. With the trusting confidence of a little child he looked into my face, asking me if I did not believe God is good, and if I believe the good God would not let them go back again to their home in Abyssinia. "How long do you think it will be before we shall have our judgment?" How could one answer those beautiful trusting eyes, knowing that already so far as anything that the league could now do was fixed and that there is no hope that at present he can go back to his home, for that has been taken by another more powerfully equipped with arms of the latest modern invention.

Persecuted Jew Kills Self
Another sad incident was that which occurred one morning when we were all startled by a pistol shot. I could see at once just where it was, in the press balcony opposite mine. I saw the man fall heavily forward in his seat. It was a suicide. A German Jew who had been expelled from Berlin, an accredited journalist from Prague. He had deliberately planned his death "to attract the attention of the world to the unhappy cause of the persecuted Jews." He had addressed a note to M. Avenol, the secretary, and also one to Mr. Eden, and one to the king of England. His last words were heard as he fell: "Avenol, it is finished." I believe he had the definite intention of giving his life for his people. He was apparently not in need of money, but was a patriot of his poor people. Of course we were all hushed and of course was suspended for about twenty minutes, when he was carried out, and we went on with the "Italian-Ethiopian" discussion. Maie was in her place not very far from the incident. It might have been a more serious matter if others had been hurt.

We did have a delightful time yesterday at the beautiful home of our consul-general, Prentiss Gilbert, who received the Americans in honor of the Fourth of July. I have just enjoyed greatly Henry Sedgwick's LaFayette. Have you read it? I had no idea how much France is indebted to Washington's friendship and love for the youthful French adventurer. Into whose heart he poured his own thoughts of freedom. There is not a dull page in the whole story.

We were invited this afternoon over to Mrs. Scott's for tea but I preferred to remain with you here, but must now say au revoir.

Water Shortage is Causing Anxiety in East Jersey County

Farmers Hauling Precious Liquid to Stock Deep Wells are Needed

Jerseyville—The water shortage is rapidly developing in eastern Jersey county. Farmers in many instances are obliged to supplement their short water supply with several tanks of water hauled from wells in the village of Medora.

Two years ago a project was instigated for drilling a series of ten deep wells in various parts of Jersey county as a CWA set-up. Several wells were approved, but before the work started, the drought of 1934 broke and the project was abandoned. This season, the need for drilled community wells scattered about parts of the county where drought conditions are the usually the worst, is apparent.

Western and southwestern Jersey county depend on the never failing springs to be found in those districts in times of great drought. While Madison county was enjoying a substantial rain within the week, Jersey county for the most part remained untouched by rainfall.

Fire hazards are daily increasing and farmers are obliged to add another to the list of their troubles by the burning of pastures from carelessly discarded cigarettes or matches along roadsides.

The Jerseyville fire department was called out about 10 o'clock Thursday morning to fight a fire which started in a pasture at the Pearl Dairy place and across pasture land of the J. N. Paul dairy. A considerable acreage was done before the blaze was finally brought under control.

No restrictions have been imposed on the use of water in the city of Jerseyville. Two years ago this became necessary in order to supply more than 200 farmers adjacent to the municipality who were using water from the local plant. This season a number of farmers are again hauling water from the city supply, and the number is being increased daily as water levels in the wells on farms near here fall.

Has Head Injury

Mrs. Herman Beers of Hardin was brought to the Jerseyville hospital on Wednesday morning to receive treatment for a head injury sustained in an automobile accident.

The car in which Mrs. Beers was riding with relatives figured in a collision with a truck on one of the curves near the Harmon farm in the western part of the county. The truck was the property of the Jersey County Farm Supply Company and was driven by Wilson Schultz.

The Hardin woman was thrown against the top of the car and sustained a severe scalp laceration. Following treatment at the local hospital she was able to return later in the day to her home.

Finds Manchester Farm Has Been in Family 107 Years

In 1829 Jacksonville was a founding place barely four years old. Illinois was just being founded. It was in this year, O. W. Rimbey, Jacksonville contractor, has discovered that a tract of land one mile north of Manchester was first granted to one of his ancestors, Sam Billings. Ever since the U. S. government made that grant of land it has remained in the possession of the same family.

When the property was put up for sale at an auction recently, Mr. Rimbey purchased it. The land had previously been held by Mrs. Sarah Wilson, whose maiden name was Billings and who is an aunt of Mr. Rimbey. After all, figured Mr. Rimbey, when a piece of property has been in your family for 107 years, you sort of hate to see it go to some stranger.

A.A.U.W. Work to Cover New Fields

Cooperative Study of School Standards Will Be Undertaken

Two new syllabi will be ready before fall for groups working in the social field—a field which the A.A.U.W. will study more extensively next year, with suggestions from Dr. Elizabeth May at headquarters.

The cooperative study of Secondary schools and school standards opens up an interesting department with the research office in Washington, D. C. at headquarters of the American Council of Education. More than six thousand collaborators, of whom the general director of the A.A.U.W. is one, have aided in criticizing and revising this material, which is ready for distribution to branch chairmen.

Research in universities is a worthwhile project, with eighty-five universities and colleges in 38 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii participating. This is sponsored by the Federal Office of Education with Emergency Relief Fund. Under the supervision of college members and college graduates students are engaged in the project. Among the studies are "Student Mortality in the Institutions of Higher Education," "Economic Status of College Alumni," "Relation Between Certain Factors in High School Education and Success in College," "State School Taxes and School Funds and Their Apportionment" and "Economic Status of Rural Teachers."

During the year prizes will be offered for dramatic writing. The plan for a World Center for Woman's Archives in cooperation with the Federation of Woman's Clubs and the Business and Professional Woman's clubs will be completed with the assistance of the local members.

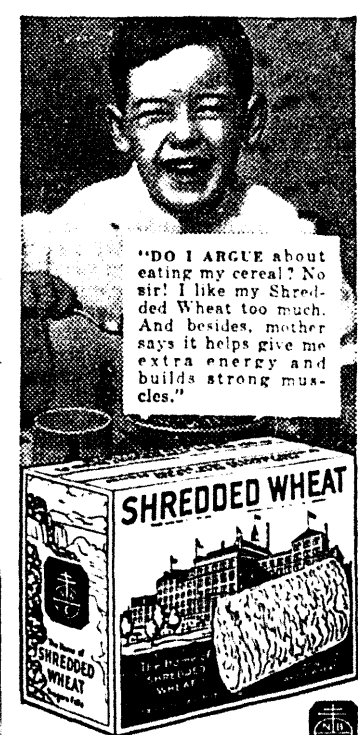

A new Education Fellowship will be held in Cheltenham, England, July 31, giving education through organizations in all countries in the world. Reports from this meeting will be of interest on programs during the coming months.

Pensions or Relief?

Old age pension machinery in Illinois seems to be hopelessly clogged. It has been shown that of the 1,150 persons who have applied for pensions in this county, only 28 are now receiving monthly checks. Hundreds of the applications have been passed along by the county board and are now somewhere in the Springfield office. Meanwhile aged citizens sit at home wondering what has happened to the promised income that will enable them to keep off relief rolls and spend their declining years with a poor subsistence, but free from the fear of starvation.

At Edwardsville two aged men have filed a suit to determine whether the state has a right to cut an allowance fixed by the county board. In this case the allowance of pension was cut from the maximum $15 to $5 monthly. Just how anyone is to keep the wolf out of the house with such a pittance perhaps experts in home economics can explain, but we doubt it.

With scores of aged citizens in this county it is either pensions or relief. The aim of the state law was to take these people off the relief rolls and away from the almshouses. That can be done only if the pensions are granted and kept paid up each month. Promises will not do, it is cash that counts in the battle against poverty for the aged.

Landon Talks Sense

In his address of acceptance of the Republican presidential nomination Governor Alf Landon of Kansas talks sense. He offers no panaceas for continuing New Deal experiments, nor does he condemn everything that has been done in the past three and a half years.

He recognizes that certain needs must be met, that there must be relief for those who need it, and that the farmer must have help in emergencies. But he points out that government regulation must no longer be allowed to throttle individual initiative, and that recovery can come only when the resources of the nation are released for the use of the people without interference from the government.

The enervating effects of constant aid for the people are already apparent. Part of the recovery that must come will consist of the restoration of that sturdy independence which has made our country the land of the greatest opportunities. Governor Landon has mapped out a program that has for its aim the return to the people of that independence.

Month of Comets

Two comets are traveling in the neighborhood of the earth for the next few weeks, and may be seen with the naked eye if the star-gazer knows where to look and will look carefully enough. We will not notice any peculiar difference in the atmosphere, and the world is not expected to come to an end. The two sky visitors portend no such bad luck.

Fact is, their itinerary calls for a visit in the vicinity of the earth this year. Other times they are engaged elsewhere, but they are always on the go, and their home is the wide open space of the sky. They have no mailing address.

We well remember the visit of Halley's comet in these parts in 1910. The comet was plainly visible for several weeks. It could be seen in the southwestern sky, and the tail was very pronounced.

Scientists stated that the earth would pass thru Halley's comet's tail on the night of May 18, 1910. We remained out of doors until a late hour, just in case anything happened. It was a bright moonlight night and the comet was not even visible. Nothing happened, which may or may not explain why we lived to write this article.

Comets are really the hoboes of the sky, but unlike the tramps we know, they usually have a rather definite route to follow. The route is so long that they call at Mother Earth's door only once in a human lifetime. Halley's comet will not be back until 1985.

Dr. Wadsworth Describes Selassie's Plea to League

Mrs. Richard Yates, who is now making her home in this city, recently received an interesting letter from her brother, Dr. Julian Wadsworth, telling of the failure of the League of Nations to save Ethiopia from conquest by the forces of Mussolini. Dr. Wadsworth, who has lived for a number of years in Geneva, Switzerland, the home of the league, was present when the defeated Emperor Haile Selassie presented his case before the league and was made the object of insulting remarks by members of the Italian delegation. In the letter which follows he vividly describes this incident as well as many other interesting events.

Geneva, Carlton Parc Hotel, Sunday, July 5, 1936.

The week has been full of most tragic events, as you may know from the papers. Both the meetings of the council and the assembly of the league have been held as long announced. With my press ticket, I have been able to attend all the public meetings and have secured tickets for Maie in the diplomatic section.

It has been painful for us to watch a painful failure on the part of the league, in which we have had such implicit faith from its inception, sixteen years now past. Again and again it has failed, because it was not strong. It was the weakness of a child of which the strength of a man was expected. It was not sufficiently supported by the nations of commanding strength. Whatever the fault, it has this week ingloriously failed. And there has been nothing to do but to acknowledge this and again go forward to renewed effort to build better for another time.

League Hopes Dashed

Last October we had hoped we had almost reached a place where "safety and solidarity" had been secured when fifty-two states signed the covenant to guard the integrity of Abyssinia one of the smallest members of the league. But to the chagrin of us all, suddenly a change of policy came, with a "terrible fear" of general war, and success slipped from the league and Italy made her victorious conquest, with the aid of the finest modern military equipment of modern times, one of the weakest and most poorly prepared countries in the league. Thus we have witnessed this most pitiable spectacle of a failure of fifty-two nations, led by three of the strongest in the world, to save from destruction a single little nation!

Can you picture this poor little African country here—fighting for its life? It had been promised that nothing could take its life while under the protection of this powerful institution. This member in the family of these world powers, just emerging from helpless barbarism, pleading in the person of its ruling emperor. Day after day we have watched this tragedy, and our hearts have ached, because nothing has seemed possible at this late date to save the life of this nation. It has been crushed apparently to death by the grinding greed of a powerfully armed nation that has gone in the name of Christian civilization to the very heart of that African empire and has driven out its monarch, with all his followers, to utter ruin, declaring with a glorious "victory" that his possessions will henceforth be a part of the "Italian empire!" Oh, it makes one blush for shame, that such can be the truth of a fait accompli.

Statement From Mussolini

I wish you might have seen it all that first morning in the assembly, when the "statement" from Mussolini for his government had been read. A pompous statement it was, declaring that what had been accomplished had been done for civilization, and now if the league will raise the "sanctions" then this government will "agree to come at once" into cooperation with the other members of the league and set about "reforming the covenant." Think of the audacity of this statement; they will reform the very covenant, which they themselves have so recently and so flagrantly violated.

Selassie Calm in Face of Boiling

After the Italian communication had been read, the president called to the tribune, His Imperial Majesty, the former (or is he still?) Emperor of Ethiopia, Haile Selassie. I wish you might have seen him as he walked to the platform with the perfect ease of a gentleman and the calm grace and composure of a man conscious of his own integrity and a just cause for defense. He stood modestly, yet with a regal dignity; in the presence of us all, when suddenly there came from the Italian section of the press balcony hideous yells, with loud raucous voices calling "murderer," "slave driver," "uncivilized barbarian," with loud whistles. You can't think of anything more disgusting than such an exhibition. Federal guards and policemen quickly had eight of these in arms and were rushing them out to and to prison. Had you seen the fine poise of the Negus, with perfect calmness as he stood there for the moment in the presence of this wild despicable treatment of himself, you could not but have admired him the more. Which, think you, of the two, was the more civilized—the representatives accredited from the Italian press, or the intelligent, cultivated man from Abyssinia? My, what a scene was that! The deposed emperor of a government member in the League of Nations, standing in the presence of fifty-two states of the world, and the most part of them Christian nations, and here was this gross treatment of him by representatives of a nation that had in the name of "Christian civilization" taken their land from them. Which of the two, think you, is the more Christian and the more civilized?

Interview With the Emperor

I have had several interviews here in the hotel with Haile Selassie, Negus of Abyssinia, and am deeply impressed with his fine personality, which is like the simplicity of a child in his apparent trust that his country can be saved by the promise of these fifty-two strong nations of the world. One was in company with the press, on the day of his arrival. I stood so near to him that I could have held his hand. He spoke in his native tongue, Amharic, which was translated into French. He then gave his statement in French to his interpreter which was a confident hope that his just cause would find an ample defense with so many powerful countries here assembled.

He told us of the use of poison, which the enemy carried in airplanes and literally "rained down from the skies" poison that killed men and beasts and poisoned the wells of water as well. His simplicity and sincerity won the sympathy of us all, and yet there was all the time the feeling of helplessness, because the thing had already been done, and no power apparently could now undo the past. Later, I was in company with about twenty when we had a more intimate conversation with His Majesty, and liked him even better. Several other times I have come into his presence.

Meets Ethiopian Boy

In the delegation is a lad 14 years old, whom I have come to know. He is son of Ras Kassa, governor of the Province of Gondar. I was told by others that this boy, on the death of his father, would have become Prince, or Ras Asrate. He speaks almost perfect English, which he learned in the school and mission in Addis Ababa. With the trusting confidence of a little child he looked into my face, asking me if I did not believe God is good, and if I believe the good God would not let them go back again to their home in Abyssinia. "How long do you think it will be before we shall have our judgment?" How could one answer those beautiful trusting eyes, knowing that already so far as anything that the league could now do was fixed and that there is no hope that at present he can go back to his home, for that has been taken by another more powerfully equipped with arms of the latest modern invention.

I must not weary you with these depressing thoughts of the failure of the week. My heart has ached with the hopelessness of their case, when it all might have been so different had the league been strengthened at the moment when sanctions might have prevented Italy from making her wicked invasion.

Persecuted Jew Kills Self

Another sad incident was that which occurred one morning when we were all startled by a pistol shot. I could see at once just where it was, in the press balcony opposite mine. I saw the man fall heavily forward in his seat. It was a suicide. A German Jew who had been expelled from Berlin, an accredited journalist from Prague. He had deliberately planned his death "to attract the attention of the world to the unhappy cause of the persecuted Jews." He had addressed a note to M. Avenol, the secretary, and also one to Mr. Eden, and one to the king of England. His last words were heard as he fell—"Avenol, it is finished." I believe he had the definite intention of giving his life for his people. He was apparently not in need of money, but was a patriot of his poor people. Of course we were all hushed and the meeting was suspended for about twenty minutes, when he was carried out, and we went on with the "Italian-Ethiopian" discussion. Maie was in her place not very far from the incident. It might have been a more serious matter if others had been hurt.

We did have a delightful time yesterday at the beautiful home of our consul-general, Prentiss Gilbert, who received the Americans in honor of the Fourth of July. I have just enjoyed greatly Henry Sedgwick's LaFayette. Have you read it? I had no idea how much France is indebted to Washington's friendship and love for the youthful French adventurer, into whose heart he poured his own thought of freedom. There is not a dull page in the whole story.

We were invited this afternoon over to Mrs. Scott's for tea but I preferred to remain with you here, but must now say au revoir.

—and they depart to have their promised reward in the Radiance of God

Some there are who have completed their span of mortal life—whose tasks have been accomplished—whose deeds have been done. They have earned their peace.

Perhaps some of these were not known to you—maybe there were some most dear to you.

Regardless of how we miss them we cannot be selfish enough to ask God to return them here—to deprive them of the rewards their lives have earned for them. Rather we rejoice that lives have been so full—so beneficial. Rather we think of their deeds and glory and try to emulate them in fact as we would in spirit.

We consider how they met their God and so live our lives that we may join them in the circle of God's own. We should devote at least one day a week to Divine worship.

We respect and love our departed. We should keep their memory alive in our hearts and their happiness and peace foremost in our minds.

We should attend Church—regularly—You—and You—and You!

Wheat and Corn Prices

Chicago, July 24.—(P)—Nearly 3 cents a bushel corn market break late today followed official predictions of widespread moisture tonight and tomorrow in drought-ridden north central states.

Wheat fell 2 cents, responsive to corn weakness. Accelerating the tumble of corn values were assertions that the feeding ratio for corn had become unprofitable, and that cheap Argentine imports were being offered in the east for latter arrival.

Leading trade authorities said corn prices had of late scored an extraordinary advance, and that in numerous quarters it was believed the market had more than discounted damage done to crops.

Corn closed unstable at almost the bottom point reached, 11-21 cents under yesterday's finish, July 20, Sept. 27-1, Dec. 20-1, wheat 11-2 cents down, July 103, Sept. 103-1, Dec. 104-1, oats 1-1 cent off, Sept. 36-1, 1, and rye 1-1 up, Sept. 72, 1. In provisions, the result varied from 2 cents decline to an equal advance.

From the outset, corn showed relative weakness in comparison with wheat. Copious downpours over northern Indiana and in Ohio did a good deal to unsettle the corn market early, but corn prices did not plunge downward in earnest until trading approached an end. According to some of the most capable observers, it appeared that corn damage news had lost its force for the time being, and that the majority of traders were inclined to anticipate possibilities of crop improvement following a change in the weather.

July and September corn, in which selling was especially heavy, suffered the sharpest setbacks in price. July plunged to 90 cents as against yesterday's final quotation of 93, and finished at a rally of but 1 cent. Cooler weather prevailing over parts of the corn belt tended to promote bearish sentiment, despite dry and hot conditions in the west.

Chrysler Motors Vote Dividend of $4 Per Share

New York, July 24.—(P)—Specialties whipped up substantial rallies in today's stock market, but the list as a whole failed to make headway.

The general run of business and industrial news was highly encouraging to recovery proponents, although there was some question whether progress in a number of lines had not been discounted to a certain extent.

The Associated Press average of 60 equities was unchanged at 67.5. Transfers totaled 1,320,880 shares against 1,334,350 yesterday.

Most of the rallies slipped fractions up or down, apparently being undisturbed by the freight car loadings report for last week which disclosed a more than seasonal decline in shipments due principally to the drought.

Although equipment shares were in demand, motor leaders apparently ignored a sharp and contra-seasonal upturn in production of both passenger cars and trucks.

Following the market's close Chrysler voted a dividend of $4 compared with $1.50 paid on June 30. Most analysts considered the declaration unusually generous. For the half-year there was a net of $6.83 a share, slightly better than had been forecast and the best in the company's history. The stock showed a loss on the day of 11 points at 118 1/2 in New York but later in San Francisco brokers said a rally took place. General Motors eased 1 at 69 1/2.

List As A Whole Maintains Steady Tone

New York, July 24.—(P)—Gains of a point or more in a handful of low-priced industrials and utilities helped the bond market maintain a steady undertone today.

The general run of active issues held to a fractional range and there were a number that failed to move away from Thursday's final prices. Trading was light in all departments, sales totaling $9,785,000, par value.

U. S. governments ran into a brief flurry of selling during the morning but tended to steady in later dealings and closed 4-32 of a point higher to 6 3/4. Treasury 2 1/2 of 1935 were the most active.

Aggressive operations on the buying side lifted a number of issues out of the narrow range that ruled the market as a whole. Walworth 4s advanced 11 points to 75 1/2, International Cement 4s improved 11 at 140 1/2, Allis-Chalmers 4s gained 11 to 136 1/2, U. S. Pipe & Foundry 3 1/2 climbed 21 to 119, and International Hydro-Electric 6s closed 1 1/2 higher at 56 1/2.

Hog Prices Drop in
Livestock MarketCattle Hold Steady After
Week's Advance

Chicago, July 24.—(P)—After a rather steady advance scored earlier in the week, hogs reacted in the livestock market today despite strengthened wholesale meat trade. Receipts of 10,000, while in line with expectations, were believed to be a little excessive for Friday requirements. In some quarters traders said increased feed costs might have had something to do with hastening marketings.

Hogs opened steady to 10 cents lower, a few selling at the 11-10 top, but the market closed 15 to 25 cents lower for heavier animals and steady to 25 cents off for sows.

Wholesale fresh loins were up another 50 cents per hundredweight for choice cuts, taking the top to $23. Beef cuts also were quoted higher, with the range on steer carcasses at $5.50 to $14.50, the advance being on better grades.

Most meat prices at wholesale advanced during the week and reports from some retail merchants in Chicago indicated butcher's prices also were stiffening. Fresh pork has gained 41 to $2.50 per hundredweight, wholesale, during the week. Wholesale cuts of dressed lamb have gone up about 41.

The cattle trade was generally steady with the week's advance. Best light steers brought $9.

Pat lambs were mostly steady, top native lambs bringing $10.75.

Chrysler Motors Vote Dividend of $4 Per Share

New York, July 24.—(P)—Specialties whipped up substantial rallies in today's stock market, but the list as a whole failed to make headway.

The general run of business and industrial news was highly encouraging to recovery proponents, although there was some question whether progress in a number of lines had not been discounted to a certain extent.

The Associated Press average of 60 equities was unchanged at 67.5. Transfers totaled 1,320,880 shares against 1,334,350 yesterday.

Most of the rails slipped fractions up or down, apparently being undisturbed by the freight car loadings report for last week which disclosed a more than seasonal decline in shipments due principally to the drought.

Although equipment shares were in demand, motor leaders apparently ignored a sharp and contra-seasonal upturn in production of both passenger cars and trucks.

Following the market's close Chrysler voted a dividend of $4 compared with $1.50 paid on June 30. Most analysts considered the declaration unusually generous. For the half-year there was a net of $6.83 a share, slightly better than had been forecast and the best in the company's history. The stock showed a loss on the day of 11 points at 118½ in New York but later in San Francisco brokers said a rally took place. General Motors eased 1 at 69½.

List As A Whole Maintains Steady Tone

New York, July 24.—(P)—Gains of a point or more in a handful of low-priced industrials and utilities helped the bond market maintain a steady undertone today.

The general run of active issues held to a fractional range and there were a number that failed to move away from Thursday's final prices. Trading was light in all departments, sales totaling $9,785,000, par value.

U. S. governments ran into a brief flurry of selling during the morning but tended to steady in later dealings and closed 4-32 of a point higher to 632 lower. Treasury 2½s of 1951 were the most active.

Aggressive operations on the buying side lifted a number of issues out of the narrow range that ruled the market as a whole. Walworth 4½s advanced 18 points to 75½, International Cement 4½s improved 18 to 149½, Allis-Chalmers 4½s gained 18 to 136½, U. S. Pipe & Foundry 3½s climbed 21 to 118, and International Hydro-Electric 6s closed 14 higher at 56½.

MISS DEATON PROMOTED

Miss Mildred Deaton of this city, formerly employed in the office of the National Re-employment Administration, has been transferred to the Chicago office.

Miss Deaton's friends and members of the Business and Professional Woman's club, where she has been an officer, regret her leaving Jacksonville. However, this change of location comes as a promotion. Miss Deaton left early in the week and has assumed her new duties in the state office.

Hog Prices Drop in
Livestock MarketCattle Hold Steady After
Week's Advance

Chicago, July 24.—(P)—After a rather steady advance scored earlier in the week, hogs reacted in the livestock market today despite strengthened wholesale meat trade. Receipts of 10,000, while in line with expectations, were believed to be a little excessive for Friday requirements. In some quarters traders said increased feed costs might have had something to do with hastening marketings.

Hogs opened steady to 10 cents lower, a few selling at the $11.10 top, but the market closed 15 to 25 cents lower for heavier animals and steady to 25 cents off for sows.

Wholesale fresh loins were up another 50 cents per hundredweight for choice cuts, taking the top to $23. Beef cuts also were quoted higher, with the range on steer carcasses at $8.50 to $14.50, the advance being on better grades.

Most meat prices at wholesale have advanced during the week and reports from some retail merchants in Chicago indicated butcher's prices also were stiffening. Fresh pork has gained $1 to $2.50 per hundredweight, wholesale, during the week. Wholesale cuts of dressed lamb have gone up about $1.

The cattle trade was generally steady with the week's advance. Best light steers brought $9. Fat lambs were mostly steady, top native lambs bringing $10.75.

Oil Shares Show Gain; Support Given Utilities

New York, July 24.—(P)—Swinging high, then low, the curb market closed mixed to slightly better today.

Oil shares were firm throughout and showed fractional gains over the previous close. Support was accorded utilities and leaders held steady, while some industrials and specialties tended to slip off moderately.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass ran forward 44 points to 131½ and Union American Investment jumped 4½ to 35½. Bridgeport Machinery advanced 2 to 19 and Sherwin-Williams picked up 1½ to 139½. A gain of 1 was scored by Gulf Oil.

On the down side, Fansteel fell 1½ to 121 and Cleveland Electric Illuminating 1 to 51. Other losses were fractional.

A. and P., Kute Kurl Girls Win For Jacksonville

City Water Low; No Shortage Yet

Jackville was victorious in a double header soft ball program at Champaign Thursday, the A. and P. men's team and the Kute Kurl girls winning from Chapin aggregation.

The Kute Kurls played the first game, defeating the Chapin women, 20 to 12. Batteries for the locals were Keep, Smith, and Herst.

The A. and P. turned a trick that very few ball clubs have been able to do when they set back the Chapin men's team, 13 to 2. The game went a full nine innings. The Jacksonville team played shut out ball for the first seven.

Batteries for the A. and P.'s were Wagner and Crampton.

Lake is Treated Often to Kill Algae; Hope for Rain to Fill Lakes

The water in the city lakes is still diminishing. George Stoldt, water plant superintendent said yesterday. It is now 37 inches below the overflow. While there is yet no danger of a water shortage, the city fathers of the city plan would feel much better if a good rain would come.

A rain would freshen the water and make the work of purification less arduous. Water algae accumulate much faster during hot weather and when the water is low. These microscopic plants enjoyed a most luxuriant growth in the tepid, quiet waters of the city lakes.

It is necessary to treat the entire lake area with copper sulphate to destroy the algae. A sack filled with the chemical is dragged through the water in tow of a motor boat. The water dissolves the chemical and carries it into the lake. It is heavy and sinks toward the bottom, carrying the algae with it. About twice as much chlorine is used on treating the water at the filtration plant when alga conditions prevail. It is so distributed that the taste is minimized, but it is necessary in order to keep the water pure in the mains.

White Hall People Summoned by Death

Miss Ella Kelley and George Edwards Die Yesterday

White Hall—Miss Ella Kelley, 71, who for 44 years made her home with Mrs. W. T. Lowenstein in White Hall, passed away at 2 a. m. yesterday at the White Hall hospital. She had been a patient at Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville, where she received treatment for a hernia condition, and had apparently recovered, but after she had returned to her home she suffered a severe stroke of apoplexy. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. at the Dowdy Funeral Home in White Hall.

Miss Kelley was born Jan. 9, 1865. She is survived by one brother, James Kelley of Roodhouse, and one sister, Mrs. Edward Spencer of White Hall.

George Edwards, eight-five years of age died in Beardstown at 4 a. m. yesterday at the home of his daughter Mrs. Mina Morrow. Mr. Edwards was a former resident of White Hall, and a well respected farmer of this community. The funeral rites will be held at the Dowdy Memorial Home in White Hall Monday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. There will be short services in Beardstown, before the body is returned to White Hall for interment.

Mr. Edwards is survived by his wife, Jennie Moore Edwards, whom he married on October 12, 1877. The couple had been anticipating the celebration of their sixtieth wedding anniversary. Mr. Edwards also leaves to mourn his passing, four sons, Judge Henry Edwards of Wever, Okla., Oklahoma, Ward Edwards of Huliville; Walter Edwards of Washington, Iowa. Grover Edwards of Washington, Iowa.

Model Contour Map of County May Be Seen at State Fair

The Federal Government will cooperate with the state government in presenting a whole floor of Federal Exhibits at the Illinois State Fair, August 15 to 23. It has been announced by Svenbjorn Johnson, State Director of the National Emergency Council and the United States Information Service, under whose auspices the display will be shown.

An entire room has been reserved on the second floor, in back of the grandstand on the State fair grounds, to house such interesting displays as a model village, project in miniature presented by the Resettlement Administration, and a model housing project prepared by the Public Works Administration Housing Division.

The contour of the country in Morgan county including all of the creeks, waterways and rivers, can be seen in miniature on the walled model map of Illinois that will be featured by the Works Progress Administration at the exhibit.

Displays at the Federal Exhibit will include: U. S. Engineers, United States Weather Bureau, Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Bureau of Air Commerce, and the Works Progress Administration and many other Emergency Agencies.

Faith of Twelve Lads Justified, But Don't You Try This

Faith in this age of hard realities may be rare, but it is not dead, in the opinion of Fred Darr, county director of the WPA recreation program. He tells a story of twelve youngsters who came in from an outlying community to attend a baseball meeting. They brought along three lunches and ninety cents among them, and announced they expected to stay all day.

"And one of them confided, 'we figured we might go swimming.'"

"How do you all expect to go swimming on ninety cents?" the young mathematician was asked.

"Don't know, but we thought something might happen so we could."

The recreation supervisor, who has to handle many situations on short notice, got busy. He procured some bread and meat and had some sandwiches made for the group, so they would have enough to eat. That afternoon he gathered the cash the boys possessed, and in some mysterious manner, secured enough more so every lad could enjoy a swim in the park pool.

Thus the faith of the boys was justified, but as Fred Darr points out with the hope that a word to the wise will be sufficient, it can't happen every day.

Mr. and Mrs. Orson Martin and sons, Avery and Junior, were visitors in Jacksonville Friday afternoon from Carrollton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boddy were in the city yesterday from Markham.

Bert Courier was a local caller yesterday from Alexander.

So Much for Love

BEGIN HERE TODAY
HELENA DERRICK, youthful head of the women's sports department at Helvig's store, goes on a week-end party at Crest Woods Lodge. There she meets handsome PETER HENDERSON. It is a case of love at first sight between them. Peter asks Helena to marry him and the ceremony takes place.

But the crowd goes swimming. Peter makes a reckless dive and is seriously injured. Lingering between life and death, Peter asks Helena to summon his lawyer, JOHN COLTRANE. Courtney arrives and a short time later Peter dies.

Helena is informed she is heir to a large fortune, including the Henderson department store, the beautiful LEAH FRAZIER who had expected to marry Peter and realizes Leah is an enemy. Peter's uncle, ROGER BARNES, is also hostile. Helena is determined to give up all claim to Peter's fortune but this hostility makes her decide to take over management of the store.

JOHN LASSITER, banker, and Courtney are her allies. Leah Frazier tells Helena that unless she leaves town Leah and her friends will boycott the store.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VIII
ROGER BARNES stood up, banging his fist on the desk. "I won't be cross-questioned or doubted by this—this—"

"Take it easy," John Lassiter said. "It's natural that Mrs. Henderson should want to know the facts."

Helena smiled sweetly. "Yes, Mr. Barnes. Of course, there's no reason why you should stand my cross-questioning unless you care to. I'll be pleased to have you continue as manager of the store. But if you feel that you wouldn't be happy working under the new ownership. She shrugged slightly, letting her voice trail to silence.

Barnes spluttered. Finally the sounds merged into some semblance of coherence. "I'll be glad to be of what service I can. Mrs. Henderson. But I do want to remind you that I have been in charge of the store for—for a considerable period."

"Of course," agreed Helena. She looked at her wrist. "It's almost 5:30. I believe that's closing time. Would you mind calling the employees together? I'd like to talk with them, if you don't mind." Helena turned to Lassiter. "While Mr. Barnes is notifying the employees, perhaps you can show me where the auditorium is?"

The banker's son left his chair. "Indeed, I can." He extended his arm and Helena took it, conscious of Roger Barnes' malicious glare.

In the hallway Lassiter told her in a low voice, "I'm mighty glad you shot it into Barnes about the credit list he's been carrying. I've argued with him for months."

"I'm awfully pleased to know you agree with me," Helena said. "I'm going to need your help, Mr. Lassiter."

HE did not answer directly, but the slightest pressure on Helena's arm was all the reassurance that she needed.

Gently he guided her to the floor above the mezzanine, to the small auditorium which was sometimes rented out to clubs, or used for demonstrations—or, less often, for a meeting of employees. In a moment they were joined by Courtney.

"Barnes is sending word through the store that the new owner would like to have the employees convene up here," he told Helena and Lassiter.

Soon they began to drift in. Helena could sense their ill will. Barnes stepped to the platform. "Employees of the Henderson Department Store," he began in stilted fashion, "we have with us here the new owner of this organization for which we have all worked and planned together. He turned to Helena with an artificial smile. "Mrs. Henderson."

Helena rose. There was a faint wave of applause. "I've got to win them," Helena thought. "If I don't do it now, I'm lost." Unsteadily she moved to the edge of the platform.

"I—I've never made a speech in my life," she began. Then panic struck into her heart—and was quickly dispelled at the wave of sympathetic laughter which greeted this confession. Regaining her composure, she answered the laughter with a smile. "But I've stood on my feet behind counters a good many hours, so I don't see why we can't understand one another."

"One thing I want to assure you—there won't be any sudden changes in the personnel. I hope there won't have to be any at all, sudden or otherwise. I haven't any definite ideas about the store."

She smiled again. She stopped a moment, looking over the little audience. "I think that's all I wanted to say—except that I hope I'll have your help."

As Helena turned to Lassiter and Barnes and the attorney she could feel the heavy silence down there in the auditorium. "I've muffed it," she thought. "They don't trust me. They—"

Then suddenly it came, a wave of spontaneous and prolonged applause. John Lassiter leaped from his chair and clasped Helena's hand. "You were marvelous!" he exclaimed.

Barnes was not enthusiastic, however. "I thought," he said, clearing his throat, "that you intended to outline some policy to them. I'm afraid it isn't a good idea to keep them after closing time just for a general handshake, Mrs. Henderson."

"I don't agree with you," Helena told him, holding her temper with an effort. "I happen to know that there's one thing a loyal employee appreciates—and that's an occasional word from the owner of the firm."

Barnes. "Could I see a list of the customers whose accounts have been running 90 days or more?"

"Why, yes... of course." In his office he instructed his secretary to bring the list to Helena. Swiftly she surveyed it, saw the name of Leah Frazier, and of Mrs. Frank J. Frazier. Their accounts showed no amount paid for more than 10 months, and Leah's alone was over the thousand mark. Helena turned to Lassiter, handing him the list. "These names mean nothing to me. What would you say about them?"

Lassiter studied the list. "Well," he said slowly, "it's difficult to generalize. Some of these are farmers with assets, and they'll pay when crops are harvested. Some of the others have had profitable investments in the past, but..." he glanced at Barnes, "I should say that they are taking advantage of their reputations as first families in the town."

"I see," said Helena slowly. Then: "Mr. Barnes, I wish you'd have letters sent to all these people, advising them that unless some arrangement is made with the credit department we'll be forced to suspend their credit."

But downstairs Helena felt her staunchness dissolving. Between Lassiter and Courtney, in the latter's coupe, she suddenly burst into tears.

Lassiter patted her wrist. "There, there. You did a darned good job of it, and it was a sensible bluff. As a matter of fact, it was something that the bank would have had to take up with Barnes—and mighty soon." He looked across at Courtney. "I think we've got a mighty fine president for Henderson's, and a mighty fine citizen for the town, don't you?"

Insurance Policies Paid Here During 1935 Were $181,000

Largest Policy in City Was $35,000 Figures for Year Show

A total of $181,000 was paid to Jacksonville beneficiaries of life insurance companies by old line companies according to figures just made public by the National Underwriter, weekly insurance newspaper.

One Jacksonville beneficiary whose address was not given collected a $35,000 policy. Another policy was for $20,000 and a third policy was for $10,000. The names of the insured not being given. Others ranged down to $5,000 while three whose names were not given totaled $14,000.

There were six claims of $2,000 each and eight claims of $1,000 each. In the class of policyholders between $2,000 and $5,000 the name of Dr. Clarence St. Clair Drake, former manager of office at the Jacksonville State hospital, was given.

Two Franklin policyholders left $5,000 and $3,000 respectively. Jacksonville policyholders left $2,000. One policy held by the late William P. Steward being between $2,000 and $5,000. A total of $20,000 was paid to beneficiaries.

Beneficiaries according to the report are: White, Hal, policies totaling $40,000. One White Hall policy was from $25,000 to $30,000 and was held by George R. Jarman, Winchester, policies amounted to $20,000.

Listed among the largest individual life insurance payments in Illinois for the year was the sum of $275,000 paid to the beneficiaries of the late Joseph Smith, who was killed in an automobile accident near Chicago. He was the famous cartoonist, creator of "The Gump".

Life insurance payments to Illinois policyholders and beneficiaries totaled $236 million dollars in 1935 or $446,500 a day, according to the special compilation.

Illinois ranked third in life payments among all states, and is third in size of population. The per capita payment in 1935 was $29.95, compared to $27.05 the year before.

Plan Pageant At Trinity Church Sunday Morning

Awards to Be Made As Daily Vacation School Is Closed

The last classes of the Daily Vacation school of Trinity Church were held Friday morning, and preparations are being made for the service, pageant, and exhibition to be held on Sunday morning. At the time of the exhibition the various prizes will be awarded. Very nearly one half the school will receive awards for perfect attendance. In view of the great heat we have experienced, this is truly a remarkable record.

The service Sunday will be sung by the children's choir. The pageant to be presented is "Youth's Search for the Holy Grail." Those taking part, under the direction of Miss Edith Flint, assisted by Miss Ann Fancher, are the following:

- Ida Ruth Grogan, Youth; Gertrude Crawford, Teenagers; Annabelle White, Experience; Janet Englund, Skeatness; Dorothy Hopkins, The Priest; Leroy Ferguson, The White Nun; Wilma Lee Bull, The Nun; Margery Ann Franklin, Second Nun; Barbara Jannopoul, Third Nun; Nancy Hughes, Other Nuns; Betty Hamilton, The King; Alma Jean Stocker, The Princess; Philip Hank, St. Gahadad; Edward Knox, King Arthur; John Self.

Following the pageant, an exhibition of the children's work will be presented in the Parish House. Each day will have a display of its products and achievements. Three prize ribbons will be awarded in each subject. Refreshments will be served by the classes in cooking. A grand prize will be given to the boy or girl under eight years of age and to the boy or girl over eight years of age who has the best record for attendance, progress, good work, helpfulness, and courtesy.

On Saturday afternoon two treasure hunts will be held for the members of the Vacation School. One hunt will be given for those under eight years of age and the other for those over eight years of age. The prizes have been arranged by three of the older boys of the school: Ben Rosehouse, Jack German, and Don Martin.

Mrs. Ora Holloway Passes Away At Her Residence Here

Death Friday Night Follows Illness of Extended Duration

Mrs. Ora Beatrice Holloway, wife of Kate Holloway, passed away last night at 11:15 o'clock at her home, 220 West Douglas avenue. Mrs. Holloway's death followed an extended illness, although she had been confined to her bed only one week.

Mrs. Holloway was born February 13, 1877, at Exeter, the daughter of Ed and Nellie Perry. She was united in marriage in July 1885 to Mr. Holloway, who survives.

She is survived by the following children: Earl of Scranton, Iowa; Mrs. Elsie Smith of Roodhouse, Bay of Winchester; Mrs. Louise Gutes of Mrs. Fern Harrell and Mrs. Freda Bates of this city; and Ellen Roena and Lucille Holloway at home. There are also 17 grandchildren and an infant, Miss Ella Perry, of Exeter, who survives.

The body was removed to the Cody & Son Memorial Home. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence on West Douglas avenue.

Charles Hagen On D. A. V. Committee

Minneapolis, July 24.—Mr. C. H. Hagen, Republican candidate for governor, was elected national commander of the disabled American Veterans of the World War at their sixteenth annual convention here today. He succeeds Colonel Marvin A. Harlan of El Paso, Texas.

New members of the national executive committee included: Charles Hagen, Hardin, Ill.

Brooks Speaks

The address by C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago, Republican candidate for governor, which was scheduled for 3 o'clock was delayed until nearly 4:30 due to car trouble at Carrollton. He was greeted by a huge throng of supporters at the speakers stand.

Brooks discussed the leading issues of the day in a lengthy but forcible and interesting address. He spoke of the people being reminded of the state sales tax at every meal or each time they bought something, stating that the sales tax should be removed from the necessities of life. He emphasized the fact that his Democratic friends do not agree with him, saying we have no constitutional right to do this.

Guests Present

Among the people worthy of mention present during the day was M. O. Smith of Concord, grandson of Ashford Smith, the founder of the original town of Glasgow. With him were also Mrs. R. C. Hemley of Jacksonville, great niece of the founder, and two other members of the early Smith family from the Concord family. They brought with them an enlarged picture of the late Ashford Smith and during their stay here viewed the many places of interest to them in the village.

Another address was given by Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana at 7 p. m. He was accompanied here by a delegation of cars from Winchester and surrounding counties, and he gave a very forceful and interesting talk before a huge audience.

The remainder of the evening's program was composed of musical numbers, a dancing number from Rood-

Society

Beta Sigma Phi Members Enjoy Evening Party

Miss Esther Sellers, assisted by Nita Kennedy and Vera Hildebrand delightfully entertained Thursday evening the members of Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority at the home of Miss Sellers, 504 North Church St.

Four tables of music were at play during the evening. Prizes were won by the following: Alpha Kappa, consolation; Vera Hildebrand and floating prize; Nita Kennedy.

Plans were discussed for a trip to the Municipal Opera in St. Louis in the near future. At the close of the evening, delicious refreshments in keeping with the summer season were served.

Mrs. Arnold Guest of Honor at Evening Party

Miss Mabel Hale and Miss Mary O'Donnell entertained at 315 West College avenue Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Leola Arnold who before her marriage was Miss Marjorie Thelva.

Two tables of bridge were at play during the party, followed by a linen shower for the bride, who was the recipient of many lovely gifts. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Achievement Day For 4-H Clubs

The 4-H clubs in the county will hold their Achievement Day, picnic and program on Monday, July 27, at Nichols park, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning. Each club will be represented with entries chosen at meetings previously held in the individual organizations.

The program will include outfit contests, clothing judging in the morning with demonstrations of clothing and food in the afternoon, and also a style review. Luncheon will be served at noon, picnic style, each member bringing a basket lunch.

Claretta Walker, home adviser of Macoupin county will judge the contest. Fourteen clubs will be represented at this meeting.

Glasgow, July 24.—The little village of Glasgow played host to the largest crowd ever to attend an event here Friday at their Centennial celebration with a huge throng of people, estimated at nearly four thousand, packing practically all of the available space in and around the village park. All parking lots and parking space along the streets were filled with cars of visitors from Scott and surrounding counties.

Scores of former citizens came back to the old home town to greet old acquaintances and visit again the scenes of their childhood days.

The program of the day began with a concert by the Jacksonville Legion band during the noon hour.

The afternoon program opened with a song and dance number by Miss Betty Lee Fundel, local protegee, a duet by Misses Dorothy Killbren and Doris Fundel, another song and dance number by Wayne Fundel, another local product and a solo by Miss Mary Margaret Pope. This was followed by a musical number by several members of the Sons of the Legion Drum and Bugle Corps of Jacksonville.

At 2 p. m. a parade was formed, with the line of march being through the two main streets of the town. The units of the parade were led by Mayor James L. Pope and consisted of the American Legion band of Jacksonville, the Sons of the Legion Drum Corps of Jacksonville, the 40 and 8 engine of the Legion post of Jacksonville, the Collinsville Girls' Drum and Bugle Corps and the Roodhouse Legion Auxiliary group.

Brooks Speaks

The address by C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago, Republican candidate for governor, which was scheduled for 3 o'clock was delayed until nearly 4:30 due to car trouble at Carrollton. He was greeted by a huge throng of supporters at the speakers stand.

Brooks discussed the leading issues of the day in a lengthy but forcible and interesting address. He spoke of the people being reminded of the state sales tax at every meal or each time they bought something, stating that the sales tax should be removed from the necessities of life. He emphasized the fact that his Democratic friends do not agree with him, saying we have no constitutional right to do this.

He also stated that he was in sympathy with the farmer, being one himself, interested in the problem of soil erosion and farm to market roads, banking to deal with these as an individual problem.

Brooks was introduced to the audience by R. Y. Rowe of Jacksonville who was previously introduced by Mayor Pope. Other candidates present on the speaker's stand were H. C. Montgomery of Winchester, candidate for Congress, Harold Hunter, candidate for senator, and Hendy Scarborough of Pike county, representative candidate.

An impressive talk was given by S. W. Peet of Winchester, one of the two surviving Civil War veterans of Scott county, during the afternoon's events. The other surviving veteran, John Haney, of Aley, was also present during the day.

A brief history of Glasgow was read by John P. Ward, a native of the town, during the early part of the program.

Guests Present.

Among the people worthy of mention present during the day was M. O. Smith of Concord, grandson of Ashford Smith, the founder of the original town of Glasgow. With him were also Mrs. R. C. Hemley of Jacksonville, great niece of the founder, and two other members of the early Smith family from the Concord family. They brought with them an enlarged picture of the late Ashford Smith and during their stay here viewed the many places of interest to them in the village.

Another address was given by Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana at 7 p. m. He was accompanied here by a delegation of cars from Winchester and surrounding counties, and he gave a very forceful and interesting talk before a huge audience.

The remainder of the evening's program was composed of musical numbers, a dancing number from Rood-

Arraign Nine in Justice Court On Theft Charges

Bond in Each Case Fixed At $1,000; To Await Action of Grand Jury

Nine defendants charged with a number of thefts in Morgan county were arraigned in Justice A. B. Cyprian's court yesterday afternoon, and after waiting preliminary hearing they were placed under bond to await action of the next session of the grand jury. It is understood that Judge Walter W. Wright will reconvene the May grand jury at which time the cases of the nine persons, five men and four women, will be investigated.

Two charges of theft have been lodged against Robert Nunn and Gerald Watkins, and bond was fixed in each case at $1,000. Bond was also fixed at $1,000 each for the other seven who appeared in justice court here yesterday. These seven include Henry and George Thomas, Eugene Graces, Hazel Eells, Ruth Rowland, Ella Lech and Ella McElhattan.

The nine are involved in the theft of nearly 400 chickens from Morgan county farmers. Their arrest followed the arrest of Nunn and Watkins, who are alleged to have stolen two used tires last Monday from Montgomery Ward & Company.

The women, who are held in connection with the alleged thefts, are said to have accompanied some of the men on their excursions into the rural districts of the county.

Plan Pageant At Trinity Church Sunday Morning

Awards to Be Made As Daily
Vacation School Is Closed

The last classes of the Daily Vacation School of Trinity Church were held Friday morning, and preparations are being made for the service, pageant, and exhibition to be held on Sunday morning. At the time of the exhibition the various prizes will be awarded. Very nearly one half the school will receive awards for perfect attendance. In view of the great heat we have experienced, this is truly a remarkable record.

The service Sunday will be sung by the children's choir. The pageant to be presented is "Youth's Search for the Holy Grail." Those taking part, under the direction of Miss Edith Elliott, assisted by Miss Ann Fancher, are the following:

Life—Ruth Grogan.
Youth—Gertrude Crawford.
Temptations:

Success—Annabelle White.
Experience—Janet Englund.
Skepticism—Dorothy Hopkins.

The Priest—Leroy Ferguson.
The White Nun—Wilma Lee Bull.

First Nun—Margery Ann Franklin.
Second Nun—Barbara Jannopoulos.

Third Nun—Nancy Hughes.
Other Nuns—Betty Hamilton,
Phyllis Stone, Alma Jean Hamilton,
St. Perceval—Philip Hauke.

Sir Galahad—Edward Knox.
King Arthur—John Seif.

Following the pageant, an exhibition of the children's work will be presented in the Parish House. Each class will have a display of its products and achievements. Three prize ribbons will be awarded in each subject. Refreshments will be served by the classes in cooking. A grand prize will be given to the boy or girl under eight years of age, and to the boy or girl over eight years of age, who has the best record for attendance, progress, good work, helpfulness, and courtesy.

On Saturday afternoon two treasure hunts will be held for the members of the Vacation School. One hunt will be given for those under eight years and one for those over that age. The hunts have been arranged by three of the older boys of the school: Ben Roodhouse, Jack German and Don Martin.

Brooks Sneaks.

The address by C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago, Republican candidate for governor, which was scheduled for 3 o'clock, was delayed until nearly 4:30 due to car trouble at Carrollton.

He was greeted by a huge throng of supporters at the speaker's stand.

Brooks discussed the leading issues of the day in a lengthy but forceful and interesting address. He spoke of the people being reminded of the state sales tax at every meal or each time they bought something, stating that the sales tax should be removed from the necessities of life. He emphasized the fact that his Democratic friends do not agree with him, saying he would have no constitutional right to do this. Further quoting him, he said, "If that be true, let us make a constitutional amendment that will make it right. This is in accord with the constitutional government approved by the people."

He also stated he was in sympathy with the farmer, being one himself; interested in the problem of soil erosion and farm to market roads, having to deal with these as an individual problem.

Brooks was introduced to the audience by R. Y. Rowe of Jacksonville, who was previously introduced by Mayor Pope. Other candidates present on the speaker's stand were H. C. Montgomery of Winchester, candidate for Congress, Harold Hunter, candidate for senator, and Hendy Scarborough of Pike county, representative candidate.

A very impressive talk was given by S. W. Peay of Winchester, one of the two surviving Civil War veterans of Scott county, during the afternoon's events. The other surviving veteran, John Haney, of Aley, was also present during the day.

A brief history of Glasgow was read by John P. Ward, a native of the town, during the early part of the program.

Guests Present.

Among the people worthy of mention present during the day was M. O. Smith of Concord, grandson of Ashford Smith, the founder of the original town of Glasgow. With him were also Mrs. R. C. Hensley of Jacksonville, great niece of the founder, and two other members of the early Smith family from the Concord vicinity. They brought with them an enlarged picture of the late Ashford Smith, and during their stay here viewed the many places of interest to them in the village.

Another address was given by Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana at 7 p. m. He was accompanied here by a delegation of cars from Winchester and surrounding counties, and he gave a very forceful and interesting talk before a huge audience.

Miss Mabel Haley and Miss Mary O'Donnell entertained at 315 West College avenue Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Leavitt Arnold who before her marriage was Miss Marjorie Theivagt.

Two tables of bridge were at play during the party, followed by a linen shower for the bride, who was the recipient of many lovely gifts. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Achievement Day For
4-H County Clubs

The 4-H clubs in the county will hold their Achievement Day picnic and program on Monday, July 27, at Nichols park, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning. Each club will be represented with entries chosen at meetings previously held in the individual organizations.

The program will include outfit contests, clothing judging in the morning and food, in the afternoon, and also a style review. Luncheon will be served at noon, picnic style, each member bringing a basket lunch.

Claretta Walker, home adviser of Macoupin county will judge the contests. Fourteen clubs will be represented at this meeting.

Glasgow Observes
Centennial With Large Attendance

Thousands Enjoy Program
in Scott; Republicans,
Democrats Share Day

Glasgow, July 24.—The little village of Glasgow played host to the largest crowd ever to attend an event here Friday at their Centennial celebration with a huge throng of people, estimated at nearly four thousand, jamming practically all of the available space in and around the village park. All parking lots and parking space along the streets were filled with cars of visitors from Scott and surrounding counties.

Scores of former citizens came back to the old home town to greet old acquaintances and visit again the scenes of their childhood days.

The program of the day began with a concert by the Jerseyville Legion band during the noon hour.

The afternoon program opened with a song and dance number by Miss Betty Lee Fundel, local protegee, a duet by Misses Dorothy Killbren and Doris Fundel, another song and dance number of Wayne Fundel, another local product, and a solo by Miss Margaret Pope. This was followed by a musical number by several members of the Sons of the Legion Drum and Bugle Corps of Jacksonville.

At 2 p. m. a parade was formed, with the line of march being through the two main streets of the town. The units of the parade were led by Mayor James L. Pope and consisted of the American Legion band of Jerseyville, the Sons of the Legion Drum Corps of Jacksonville, the 40 and 8 engine of the Legion post of Jacksonville, the Collinsville Girls' Drum and Bugle Corps and the Roodhouse Legion Auxiliary group.

Brooks Sneaks.

The address by C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago, Republican candidate for governor, which was scheduled for 3 o'clock, was delayed until nearly 4:30 due to car trouble at Carrollton.

He was greeted by a huge throng of supporters at the speaker's stand.

Brooks discussed the leading issues of the day in a lengthy but forceful and interesting address. He spoke of the people being reminded of the state sales tax at every meal or each time they bought something, stating that the sales tax should be removed from the necessities of life. He emphasized the fact that his Democratic friends do not agree with him, saying he would have no constitutional right to do this. Further quoting him, he said, "If that be true, let us make a constitutional amendment that will make it right. This is in accord with the constitutional government approved by the people."

He also stated he was in sympathy with the farmer, being one himself; interested in the problem of soil erosion and farm to market roads, having to deal with these as an individual problem.

Brooks was introduced to the audience by R. Y. Rowe of Jacksonville, who was previously introduced by Mayor Pope. Other candidates present on the speaker's stand were H. C. Montgomery of Winchester, candidate for Congress, Harold Hunter, candidate for senator, and Hendy Scarborough of Pike county, representative candidate.

A very impressive talk was given by S. W. Peay of Winchester, one of the two surviving Civil War veterans of Scott county, during the afternoon's events. The other surviving veteran, John Haney, of Aley, was also present during the day.

A brief history of Glasgow was read by John P. Ward, a native of the town, during the early part of the program.

Guests Present.

Among the people worthy of mention present during the day was M. O. Smith of Concord, grandson of Ashford Smith, the founder of the original town of Glasgow. With him were also Mrs. R. C. Hensley of Jacksonville, great niece of the founder, and two other members of the early Smith family from the Concord vicinity. They brought with them an enlarged picture of the late Ashford Smith, and during their stay here viewed the many places of interest to them in the village.

Another address was given by Congressman Scott W. Lucas of Havana at 7 p. m. He was accompanied here by a delegation of cars from Winchester and surrounding counties, and he gave a very forceful and interesting talk before a huge audience.

Arraign Nine in Justice Court On Theft Charges

Bond in Each Case Fixed At $1,000; To Await Action
of Grand Jury

Nine defendants charged with a number of thefts in Morgan county were arraigned in Justice A. B. Opperman's court yesterday afternoon, and after waiving preliminary hearing they were placed under bond to await action of the next session of the grand jury. It is understood that Judge Walter W. Wright will reconvene the May grand jury at which time the cases of the nine persons, five men and four women, will be investigated.

Two charges of theft have been lodged against Robert Nunn and Gerald Watkins, and bond was fixed in each case at $1,000. Bond was also fixed at $1,000 each for the other seven who appeared in justice court here yesterday. These seven include Henry and George Thomas, Eugene Graves, Hazel Estes, Ruth Rowland, Eva Lash and Eulah McHatton.

The nine are involved in the theft of nearly 400 chickens from Morgan county farmers. Their arrests followed the arrest of Nunn and Watkins, who are alleged to have stolen two used tires last Monday from Montgomery Ward & Company.

The women, who are held in connection with the alleged thefts, are said to have accompanied some of the men on their excursions into the rural districts of the county.
